Congress OK's Federal Funds For Public, Private Colleges

2,100 SCHOOLS CAN SHARE AID

. . . $1.2 BILLION VOTED

Washington (AP)—Congress sent to President Johnson Tuesday a $1.2-billion education bill authorizing federal funds for the first time to aid construction at both public and private four-year and junior colleges.

Final approval came on a 54-27 roll call vote in the Senate, with 37 Democrats and 17 Republicans voting for, 17 Democrats and 10 Republicans against.

The measure, endorsed by Johnson and the late President John F. Kennedy before his death, will help build classrooms, laboratories and libraries to meet the expected doubling of college enrollments in this decade.

2,100 Eligible

All 2,100 of the nation's colleges and universities are eligible for the grant and loan funds. Preference will be given to those planning to expand enrollment.

Hailed by Democratic leaders as the most important new administration program to clear Congress this year, it is expected to be followed soon by another major education bill.

The latter, agreed on by House and Senate conferees Tuesday, authorizes $1.56 billion for vocational education and college student loans and extends the impacted areas program aiding school districts glutted with children whose parents work at nearby federal institutions.

Later In Week

The vocational bill is expected to be called up in the House later in the week. It is a compromise between a $3.2-billion, five-year Senate version and $450 million voted by the House but limited to vocational grants.

The new college construction legislation authorizes expenditures over three years to provide for the flood of new students expected in the year immediately ahead as babies born right after World War II reach college age.

College enrollment is expected to jump from the 3.6 million of 1960 to 7 million by 1970.

Up Capacity

Every college now in existence will have to double capacity and 1,000 more capable of handling 2,500 each will have to be built in the opinion of Sen. Wayne Morse, D-Ore., the bill's chief sponsor.

These are the annual authorizations in the college bill (all run for three years):

—$180 million in grants for four-year colleges, private junior colleges and technical institutes. Their use would be limited to buildings for instruction or research in the natural and physical sciences, engineering, mathematics and modern foreign languages, and for libraries.

Each state's allotment of funds would be based on its college and high school enrollment. The federal share of a project could be no more than one-third.

Classroom Construction

—$120 million in loans for construction of all types of classrooms at four-year colleges, private junior colleges and technical institutes. No one state could receive more than 12½% of the funds appropriated for any one year. At least one-fourth of the cost of a project would have to come from non-federal sources. Loans could run up to 50 years at an interest rate of about 3⅝%.

—$50 million in grants to public community junior colleges for the same types of buildings as in the grants to four-year schools. Each state's allotment of funds would be based on the number of its high school graduates and comparative income factor. The federal share would be limited to 40 per cent.

—$25 million the first year and $60 million in each of the next two years for grants for graduate schools and graduate centers. No one state could receive more than 12½ per cent of the grants in any one year. The federal share would be limited to one-third.

Sinatra Visits Former Wife

. . . NO BREAK IN KIDNAP

Stateline, Nev. (UPI) — Singer Frank Sinatra, promising to make "any kind of deal" for the return of his kidnaped son, flew to Los Angeles Tuesday night to see his former wife, Nancy, mother of the abducted 19-year-old entertainer.

A spokesman for the senior Sinatra said the singer's departure from Reno has nothing to do with a break in the two-day-old mystery.

The spokesman, Jack Entratter, president of the Sands Hotel in Las Vegas and longtime friend of the singer, called a news conference in Reno and said that "no optimistic report (on the kidnap) has been given to us at all."

Earlier Jim Mahoney, spokesman for the elder Sinatra, said that the FBI had an "optimistic report" in the case but refused comment further "because a boy's life is at stake."

'No Comment'

The FBI continued to say "no comment" to all questions relating to the abduction of Frank Jr., 19-year-old son of the famous singer, who was taken from his Lake Tahoe motel room Sunday night at gunpoint by two men.

"The only thing that has come out of this office all day is 'no comment,'" the FBI in Reno said.

Entratter said that Sinatra would return to Reno but that "he flew to meet with Nancy (his former wife) and be with her and the children."

Sinatra said he "felt the short time he could spend with the family would be very helpful to them," according to Entratter.

Waiting

Entratter said he and other friends were waiting by Sinatra's hotel room telephone during his absence in case there were any attempts by the kidnapers to contact Sinatra.

Despite the optimistic report given newsmen by Mahoney, FBI agents at Stateline and in San Francisco also refused to comment. The San Francisco office said there had been no change in the situation.

Mahoney, staying in the Reno hotel with Sinatra Sr., also said the FBI felt that the effectiveness of the road blocks around the Lake Tahoe area had worn off and they would be taken down.

However, Ernest Carlson, sheriff of El Dorado County, Calif., said that there were merely "changes" in the roadblock system. Some of the roadblocks "lowered" were being brought closer to the town of Stateline.

Carlson described the search for Sinatra and his two abductors as "massive" and said more than 100 law enforcement officers from federal, state and local agencies were involved. He said they were conducting a "motel-by-motel" search of the area, which has a wintertime population of about 10,000.

Asked if he thought young Sinatra was still alive, Carlson said:

"No comment. But I certainly hope so."

He said he had received no indication that Sinatra had been harmed physically.

Still In Area

The sheriff said he thought the kidnapers were still in the area and that the changes in the roadblock system did not mean this theory was being discarded.

He said no helicopters were being used in the search but observers noted at least one search plane Tuesday — the first time since the kidnap that flying was possible because of an intense snowstorm that dropped more than a foot of snow on the Sierra Nevada area.

"There is an awful lot of work being put into this case," Carlson said. "Every means is being checked."

Lonely Vigil

Mahoney in Reno, where Sinatra Sr. was keeping a lonely vigil in a luxurious three-room hotel suite, said that the singer was prepared to make a "no questions asked" deal with the kidnapers for the return of his son.

Gallo Gang Indicted For Plotting Against Rivals

New York (AP)— Eighteen members of Brooklyn's dwindling Gallo gang were indicted by the state Tuesday, accused of waging bloody street warfare in a vain attempt to wipe out the rival Profaci mob.

The unusual indictment accused the Gallo faction of plotting to kill "some or all" of the Profacis in a four-year battle for control of Bookmaking, numbers, and other Brooklyn rackets.

The Profaci gang, apparent winners of the war, were not indicted. Instead, 22 of their members were named as potential targets of Gallo killers, including mob leader Joseph (The Fat Man) Magliocco.

Heavy Toll

Sporadic warfare between the two mobs has, by FBI count, claimed five lives. Other estimates run as high as 11 dead, nine of the Gallo members.

The man who followed the warfare from its outset, retired Chief Inspector Raymon V. Martin, formerly in charge of detectives in the Gallo sector of Brookyn, wrote in his book, "Revolt in The Mafia," earlier this year:

"Somehow it seems like a different war. For the Gallos it is a war of survival and revenge. They no longer hope to win power, favor or a piece of the action. For them, hunting the elusive Profaci adherents is like stalking shadows in the Brooklyn night . . .

"The Gallo men were desperate and frightened. Now they wanted nothing except to stay alive. If they killed or shot at a Profaci adherent, it was now only a self-protective measure."

Conspiracy

Beside charging a conspiracy to wipe out the Profaci gang, the State Supreme Court indictment accused the Gallos of stockpiling weapons.

Among those of the Gallo gang arrested were Larry (The Boss) Gallo, 36, leader of the mob, and his brother, Alber (Kid Blast) Gallo, 33. A third brother, Joseph Gallo, alias Joey the Blonde or Crazy Joey, was not indicted. He is serving a 7-14 year prison sentence for extortion.

The Profaci gang formerly was headed by Joe Profaci, ostensibly an importer who gained the title of the "Olive Oil King" of Brooklyn. He was described by Joseph Valachi in recent senate testimony as boss of the Brooklyn branch of the national crime syndicate, Cosa Nostra.

Profaci died June 7, 1962, of cancer and, according to Valachi, was succeeded by his brother-in-law, Magliocco.

The Gallos originally were a branch of the Profacis, dealing in coin box rackets and described by police as enforcers for the Profacis.

However, the Gallos fell out with Profaci and, thirsting for greater power, purportedly launched the gang war to wrest control from their superiors of the lucrative Brooklyn rackets.

J. LEE RANKIN

Rankin Will Study All Angles Of Case

New York (AP) — J. Lee Rankin, appointed as general counsel of the commission investigating the assassination of President John F. Kennedy, said Tuesday the job will take as long as necessary to look into every aspect of the case.

"It would be very dangerous for the commission to come out with a report before it has all the facts," said Rankin, 56, who has been practicing law in New York since he left office as U.S. Solicitor General in 1961.

He said that Chief Justice Earl Warren, chairman of the commission, suggested he try for a report in February, if possible.

"On the other hand, he wants it done very thoroughly," Rankin said.

To Open Office

Rankin said he plans to open an office in Washington, possibly this weekend.

The job will involve examining all the material about the assassination which has been developed by various governmental agencies, following up any other possible leads, and "determining whether there were any other persons or groups involved, and checking all the rumors of conspiratorial action."

"I plan to spend as much time at it as I can," he said. "The President and Chief Justice want to get it resolved as soon as possible, not only for the American people but for those in foreign countries, too."

Studied Law at NU

Rankin studied law at the University of Nebraska, and practiced in Lincoln, Neb., for 23 years.

He managed presidential campaigns in Nebraska for Thomas E. Dewey in 1948 and Dwight Eisenhower in 1952. In 1953, President Eisenhower appointed him assistant attorney general in charge of the office of legal counsel. He became solicitor general in 1957.

Rankin owns a large cattle ranch in South Dakota, where he spends vacations and rides horses. He played the piccolo in college, and set type to help pay his way.

He used to grow roses and raise dogs, but since he came to New York he says all he has time for is to walk back and forth from his apartment to the office.

Rankin lives here with his wife, who was his boyhood sweetheart. They have three children — a daughter who is a junior at the University of Nebraska, a son in his second year of law school at the University of California at Berkeley, and a son who commands an Army intelligence unit at Buffalo, N.Y. The latter is married and has one son.

Omaha City Council Asks Investigation

. . . BY GRAND JURY

Omaha (AP) —The Omaha City Council voted Tuesday to ask the Omaha District Court judges to call a grand jury inquire into the Omaha city government.

The vote was 5 to 2.

It followed a vote to revoke the liquor license of the Federico Lounge where policeman Mike Brown was beaten while, Brown has said, he was on an undercover mission.

The council further requested the city legal department to study possible action on perjury charges against several witnesses who testified in an earlier hearing held by the council on revocation of the Federico license.

This action came after the council had studied a 13-page report on lie detector tests taken by the witnesses.

Leonard Harrelson of Chicago, who gave the tests, reported that Brown had told the council substantially the truth about the beating he received, but that Brown had admitted under questioning that he had lied in some of his other testimony.

Harrelson said that Brown had admitted making an obscene remark to Charlene Quick, waitress at Federico's.

The report also said that the test of Mrs. Quick indicated she had not told the truth when she told the council that Joseph Venditte, bouncer at the lounge, was struck by Brown before Venditte hit Brown.

Harrelson said his test of Venditte indicated he lied when he testified that Brown "jumped" him from behind, when he said Brown wielded a beer bottle and when he denied he hit Brown when the policeman was on his knees.

Of the test of John Ralph Federico, son of the lounge owner, Harrelson said it indicated young Federico told substantially the truth during his examination by the council.

Venditte and young Federico have been charged with assault in the attack on Brown.

Major Wintry Storm Lays Snow Blanket On Midlands

Chicago (AP) — A major wintry storm whipped the southern Rockies Tuesday and one to two inches of new snow blanketed much of Colorado and southeastern Wyoming.

Heavy snow and blizzard warnings were in effect for parts of Nebraska and western central Kansas. Glaze warnings were issued for southeastern Kansas.

A huge mass of cold air moved southward over the Northern Plains. From the Great Lakes eastward along the west slopes of the Appalachians there were scattered snow flurries.

Ardmore, Okla., measured .65 inches of rain in six hours.

A wind-whipped snowstorm left streets and highways icy in Colorado, but brought smiles to mountain ski resort operators. The snow also was badly needed for mountain watersheds, grazing pastures and winter wheat.

The storm swung its heaviest blow in the Salida area and in southwestern Colorado.

Teton Pass in the extreme northwest corner of Wyoming reported 10 inches of snow, while there was 6 inches at Lander and 5 inches at Riverton, Sheridan and Big Piney.

Parking Rules Go Into Effect As First Snow Hits Lincoln

Snowballs were in style here Wednesday — and until further notice, so was the city's snow parking ban.

Robert Holsinger, City Traffic Engineer, ordered the ban effective immediately. Between 12:01 a.m. and 7 a.m. vehicles must be parked on the even-numbered sides of the street on even-numbered days and on the odd-numbered side on odd-numbered days.

The regulation applies to all streets except those where parking is prohibited on one side or where parking is otherwise prohibited and those in the congested district.

The snowfall here brought out City Street Department crews early in the evening to sand slippery intersections. Twelve minor auto accidents were reported from Tuesday afternoon to midnight—fewer than police had expected.

Many street signs were knocked over by cars skidding on the new snow, police reported.

The same storm which left an inch of snow on the ground at Lincoln by early Wednesday morning hit the rest of the state, but no stations reported more than two inches.

Omaha, Grand Island, Scottsbluff and Imperial all reported an inch. Two inches fell at North Platte and Sidney.

Travelers in the Plainview and Bloomfield area reported four-to-five foot drifts across highways Tuesday night. Driving conditions in that region were extremely hazardous.

The State Highway Patrol reported that roads were snowpacked and icy in the Ogallala and Scottsbluff areas. General icy conditions were reported in low and sheltered areas on highways throughout the state.

Temperatures were near the zero mark in Norfolk and Ainsworth Tuesday night.

Five Testify In Exhumation Hearing At Wilber

By DEAN TERRILL
Southeast Nebraska Bureau

Wilber — The possibility that life might linger a few minutes longer from a fatal brain injury than a shotgun blast near the heart is being dramatically probed here.

Five witnesses were called in the first day of testimony Tuesday in a case described as unique in Nebraska and very possibly destined for the State Supreme Court. Judge Joseph Ach is conducting the hearing in Saline County District Court.

At stake is an inheritance of $240,000 from the estate of suicide victim Alfred Tachovsky, 65, and the wife (Ida) whose life he took with him 19 months ago. Attorneys for Mrs. Tachovsky's sister, Mrs. Lillian Stastny of Wilber, seek a court order to exhume both bodies and possibly prove that the farm wife died last — and thus would have been the legal beneficiary of her husband's will.

Objection Entered

Tachovsky's brother and two sisters have objected to the proposed disinterment and autopsies. They, rather than Mrs. Stastny, would be heirs of nearly all the estate if the court finds that the wealthy Swanton farmer survived longer.

Both Glenn Zajicek, Wilber mortician, and helper Frank Bartos testified that a "large amount of blood" surrounded the murder victim's body, while there was no outside bleeding from Tachovsky. The plaintiffs were obviously trying to establish that a profuse blood flow from Mrs. Tachovsky's open skull indicated life might have lasted longer than with a wound which did not bleed.

There was also an attempt to link her protruded left eye with a theory that death was not instantaneous. Zajicek said in his opinion the eye showed that blood was being pumped into it after the shot.

The deceased man's wound was described by the mortician as "about nickel-size," straight into the chest, and "close to the heart."

Nephew Questioned

Undergoing a stern examination from attorney John E. Dougherty of York was Lester Tachovsky, nephew and neighbor of the slain couple. Residing one-fourth mile from the scene of the tragedy, he repeatedly denied that he had ever told anyone of hearing two shots within about three minutes of one another.

His wife testified that she had heard what sounded like one shot, but insisted that she and her husband had never discussed the possible gunfire either then or later. Mrs. Tachovsky discovered her aunt's body in the blood spattered upstairs bedroom after farmer Stanley Jiskra summoned her upon finding the man's body on May 3, 1962.

Tachovsky himself was found outside the farm house, a shotgun and hammer beside him. He apparently had actuated the weapon's trigger by pulling against a nail he had driven into a tree.

The pair are buried in Wilber's Bohemian cemetery. Zajicek said upon questioning that the bodies, both placed in moisture-proof steel caskets and concrete vaults, should be well preserved.

The hearing will last at least another day, and attorney Clarence Kunc, representing the defendants, indicated he will ask a continuance until a deposition can be taken from a University of Nebraska pathologist.

Judge Ach will rule only on whether the bodies should be exhumed, not on which person died first.

Major Wintry Storm Lays Snow Blanket On Midlands

Chicago (AP) — A major wintry storm whipped the southern Rockies Tuesday and one to two inches of new snow blanketed much of Colorado and southeastern Wyoming.

Heavy snow and blizzard warnings were in effect for parts of Nebraska and western central Kansas. Glaze warnings were issued for southeastern Kansas.

A huge mass of cold air moved southward over the Northern Plains. From the Great Lakes eastward along the west slopes of the Appalachians there were scattered snow flurries.

Ardmore, Okla., measured .65 inches of rain in six hours.

A wind-whipped snowstorm left streets and highways icy in Colorado, but brought smiles to mountain ski resort operators. The snow also was badly needed for mountain watersheds, grazing pastures and winter wheat.

The storm swung its heaviest blow in the Salida area and in southwestern Colorado.

Teton Pass in the extreme northwest corner of Wyoming reported 10 inches of snow, while there was 6 inches at Lander and 5 inches at Riverton, Sheridan and Big Piney.

Parking Rules Go Into Effect As First Snow Hits Lincoln

Snowballs were in style here Wednesday — and until further notice, so was the city's snow parking ban.

Robert Holsinger, City Traffic Engineer, ordered the ban effective immediately. Between 12:01 a.m. and 7 a.m. vehicles must be parked on the even-numbered sides of the street on even-numbered days and on the odd-numbered side on odd-numbered days.

The regulation applies to all streets except those where parking is prohibited on one side or where parking is otherwise prohibited and those in the congested district.

The snowfall here brought out City Street Department crews early in the evening to sand slippery intersections. Twelve minor auto accidents were reported from Tuesday afternoon to midnight—fewer than police had expected.

Many street signs were knocked over by cars skidding on the new snow, police reported.

The same storm which left an inch of snow on the ground at Lincoln by early Wednesday morning hit the rest of the state, but no stations reported more than two inches.

Omaha, Grand Island, Scottsbluff and Imperial all reported an inch. Two inches fell at North Platte and Sidney.

Travelers in the Plainview and Bloomfield area reported four-to-five foot drifts across highways Tuesday night. Driving conditions in that region were extremely hazardous.

The State Highway Patrol reported that roads were snowpacked and icy in the Ogallala and Scottsbluff areas. General icy conditions were reported in low and sheltered areas on highways throughout the state.

Temperatures were near the zero mark in Norfolk and Ainsworth Tuesday night.

Five Testify In Exhumation Hearing At Wilber

By DEAN TERRILL
Southeast Nebraska Bureau

Wilber — The possibility that life might linger a few minutes longer from a fatal brain injury than a shotgun blast near the heart is being dramatically probed here.

Five witnesses were called in the first day of testimony Tuesday in a case described as unique in Nebraska and very possibly destined for the State Supreme Court. Judge Joseph Ach is conducting the hearing in Saline County District Court.

At stake is an inheritance of $240,000 from the estate of suicide victim Alfred Tachovsky, 65, and the wife (Ida) whose life he took with him 19 months ago. Attorneys for Mrs. Tachovsky's sister, Mrs. Lillian Stastny of Wilber, seek a court order to exhume both bodies and possibly prove that the farm wife died last — and thus would have been the legal beneficiary of her husband's will.

Objection Entered

Tachovsky's brother and two sisters have objected to the proposed disinterment and autopsies. They, rather than Mrs. Stastny, would be heirs of nearly all the estate if the court finds that the wealthy Swanton farmer survived longer.

Both Glenn Zajicek, Wilber mortician, and helper Frank Bartos testified that a "large amount of blood" surrounded the murder victim's body, while there was no outside bleeding from Tachovsky. The plaintiffs were obviously trying to establish that a profuse blood flow from Mrs. Tachovsky's open skull indicated life might have lasted longer than with a wound which did not bleed.

There was also an attempt to link her protruded left eye with a theory that death was not instantaneous. Zajicek said in his opinion the eye showed that blood was being pumped into it after the shot.

The deceased man's wound was described by the mortician as "about nickel-size," straight into the chest, and "close to the heart."

Nephew Questioned

Undergoing a stern examination from attorney John E. Dougherty of York was Lester Tachovsky, nephew and neighbor of the slain couple. Residing one-fourth mile from the scene of the tragedy, he repeatedly denied that he had ever told anyone of hearing two shots within about three minutes of one another.

His wife testified that she had heard what sounded like one shot, but insisted that she and her husband had never discussed the possible gunfire either then or later. Mrs. Tachovsky discovered her aunt's body in the blood spattered upstairs bedroom after farmer Stanley Jiskra summoned her upon finding the man's body on May 3, 1962.

Tachovsky himself was found outside the farm house, a shotgun and hammer beside him. He apparently had actuated the weapon's trigger by pulling against a nail he had driven into a tree.

The pair are buried in Wilber's Bohemian cemetery. Zajicek said upon questioning that the bodies, both placed in moisture-proof steel caskets and concrete vaults, should be well preserved.

The hearing will last at least another day, and attorney Clarence Kunc, representing the defendants, indicated he will ask a continuance until a deposition can be taken from a University of Nebraska pathologist.

Judge Ach will rule only on whether the bodies should be exhumed, not on which person died first.

PRESIDENT PROMISES . . .

Economy Won't Harm Defenses

Washington (AP) —Budget-conscious Lyndon B. Johnson assured congressional leaders of both parties Tuesday he intends to keep American military power strong enough to survive a surprise attack and be able to destroy the enemy.

While the President is pressing for economies in the Pentagon and all through the government, he was reported on good authority to have told Republican and Democratic chiefs of the Senate and House that any economizing in no way will damage basic military power of the nation.

Johnson set up and attended a briefing for the congressional leaders on the latest estimates of the relative strength of U.S. and Soviet military forces Tuesday and as forecast through the 1960s.

Will Continue

"The President," a White House statement said, "emphasized that the United States military program will continue to provide for a strategic force sufficiently large to absorb a surprise attack and survive with sufficient power to be capable of destroying the aggressor."

This has been fundamental American policy for years. But Johnson chose to stress it again at a time when he is getting the federal budget into shape for transmitting to Congress next month.

In spite of Johnson's demands for frugality, there are some built-in increases that have to be worked into the budget. And Johnson has let it be known that it may be impossible to hold the total below a record $102 billion.

The highest budget now on record is the $98.8 billion President John F. Kennedy asked for the present fiscal year which ends next June 30.

Fix Figures

Johnson went into a decision-making session Tuesday on a broad range of budget requests. The objective was to fix the final spending figures for such departments as Treasury and Justice and for a string of agencies, such as the Federal Communications and Power Commissions, the Veterans and Small Business Administrations, and the Federal Aviation and the U.S. Information Agencies.

Johnson also nudged congressional leaders again on civil rights and tax cutting legislation, the two major items for which Kennedy was pushing and the two top items on Johnson's program.

He did this in a regular Tuesday morning breakfast session with Democratic chiefs of the House and Senate.

Can't Wait

Speaker of the House John W. McCormack of Massachusetts said Johnson told the group that the civil rights issue "can't be ignored another hundred years or even another hundred days" and was assured that the House leadership is in full accord with that view.

The civil rights bill is marking time in the House Rules Committee.

Senate Democratic leader Mike Mansfield of Montana reported that Johnson still is "vitally interested" in passage of legislation to slash taxes by $11 billion.

Air Force To Build Orbiting Space Lab

. . . DYNA-SOAR DIES

Washington (UPI) —With President Johnson's approval, the Defense Department Tuesday announced a giant program to orbit a manned space laboratory the size of a small house trailer by early 1968.

The laboratory will be designed so that astronauts can move about freely inside without a space suit "and conduct observations and experiments in the laboratory over a period of up to a month."

Defense Secretary Robert S. McNamara, announcing the move at a surprise news conference, also confirmed that he has killed the Air Force's Dyna-Soar spaceship project on which $400 million already has been spent.

The Air Force instead will be in sole charge of the new program, to be known as the Near-earth Manned Orbiting Laboratory (MOL) project.

McNamara emphasized that the orbiting laboratory will have military objectives, and will be wholly separate from the civilian National Aeronautics and Space Administration's Apollo moon-landing effort.

"The MOL program, which will consist of an orbiting pressurized cylinder approximately the size of a small house trailer, will increase the Defense Department effort to determine the military usefulness of man in space," McNamara said.

The first manned flight of MOL is expected late in 1967 or early in 1968.

Asked to identify the program's military purposes, McNamara mentioned navigation, meteorology and "classified purposes." He smiled and refused to answer when asked if the classified purposes included international inspection.

"Our program is directly related to potential military requirements — I emphasize potential," he said.

As presently planned, the space laboratory will go up attached to a Gemini-type capsule in a single launch. The astronauts would move from the capsule to the trailer after they were in orbit, and would return to the capsule for separation from the laboratory and their descent to earth.

These plans do not include rendezvous, a major objective of the Russian space program. McNamara, however, said MOL has the "potential" for adding rendezvous if it is decided to send a second capsule of men up to use the same laboratory.

Bolivia Seeks U.S. Help Against Reds

La Paz, Bolivia (AP)— The Bolivian government Tuesday night asked the United States for arms — including planes —that may be needed for attack on Communist-led tin miners holding four American and other hostages.

The government handed a list of military requirements to the U.S. Embassy for relay to Washington.

President Lyndon B. Johnson has offered Bolivia full assistance in efforts to obtain the release of more than 20 hostages seized Friday by the miners.

There was no indication, however, that any military attack was contemplated immediately.

President Victor Paz Estenssoro was believed moving cautiously behind the scenes in seeking to get the hostages freed without touching off what could turn into wholesale slaughter.

The miners told the government they would not release the hostages until the government freed two jailed Communist union leaders, old-time trouble makers in the country's nationalized tin industry.

In addition to the Americans, 16 Bolivian mining technicians, a German and a Dutchman were held hostage. It was understood here that two or three Canadians and two Swedes were threatened or temporarily held but now are free.

The U.S. government was reported putting the heaviest pressure on Bolivia to get the Americans freed immediately and safely.

In Washington, the State Department made a formal protest to the Bolivian government over the seizure of the Americans.

Studebaker Can Profit In Hamilton

New York (UPI) — Chairman Randolph H. Guthrie of Studebaker Corp. said Tuesday the company could operate its automotive branch in Canada indefinitely, and at a profit, because of lower costs in that country.

He told a news conference Studebaker's South Bend, Ind., production and assembly lines would be closed within two weeks. The firm will continue to make its engines in South Bend, he said, and Studebaker's decision Monday to shut down the plant was not based on wages.

Guthrie said the pioneer automaker had lost $40 million in South Bend and was being "bled white" there.

Studebaker is shifting its automotive headquarters to Hamilton, Ont. The company is pinning its hope of staying in the auto business to lower costs in the Canadian plant, Guthrie said.

Studebaker will discontinue production of the Avanti sports car and the Hawk series and the Hamilton plant will concentrate on the smaller Lark model.

Although U.S. automobiles normally retail at slightly higher prices in Canada, Guthrie said Studebaker would be able to make cars in Hamilton and sell them at current U.S. prices despite a 6½% tariff.

He explained that because engines will be made at South Bend, much of the duty will be rebateable. Wage costs are 10% less in Hamilton and Studebaker will benefit from the prevailing 8% cheaper value of the Canadian dollar, he added.

At the start of the news conference he disclosed that the South Bend production and assembly lines will shut down when the present schedule is completed, in one week at the earliest, two at the latest.

Thereafter, about 1,000 of the 8,000 workers will get seasonal work making engines and stampings and assembling some trucks. All the rest will be out.

Hard Facts Of Studebaker Demise Mean Rugged Christmas For 6,000

South Bend, Ind. (UPI) — The Studebaker Corp. Tuesday spelled out the hard facts of its demise as a maker of American automobiles:

One week more and that will be all.

With Christmas just 15 days away, Studebaker passed the word to local businessmen that its South Bend automotive plant would close next Tuesday or Wednesday.

This was even colder turkey than the word from New York, where Studebaker board chairman Randolph B. Guthrie put the shutdown date at one or two weeks.

"We were being bled white in South Bend," he said.

The private word to South Bend civic and business leaders came at a closed meeting in the company's red brick administration building on this snowy, chill day. It stung the city almost as much as Monday's word that the end was coming.

Mayor Frank J. Bruggner called community leaders to his office to discuss what could be done about "this shocking blow to our entire area."

Woodrow Frick, president of Local 5 of the AFL-CIO United Auto Workers, was openly angry at Guthrie's way of breaking the news both Monday and Tuesday.

"Greater consideration should have been given . . . relief should have been sought . . . it's not humanitarian," he said.

On Sample Street, outside gate No. 1 of the 291-acre Studebaker plant, the men checked over the tough news.

For most of the estimated 6,000 men employed in the Studebaker plant, the fact to be faced was that their jobs would be gone before Christmas.

There was one more bitter pill: Salaried workers would get severance pay, but the company said the UAW men would have to rely on the "supplemental benefits" in their UAW contracts.

Frick said this amounted to practically nothing. The union was supposed to have a fund to aid workers in emergencies, but he said it had been drained during recent layoffs at Studebaker.

The feeling on Michigan Street, South Bend's main stem, boiled down to:

"It's tough. It's hard to take."

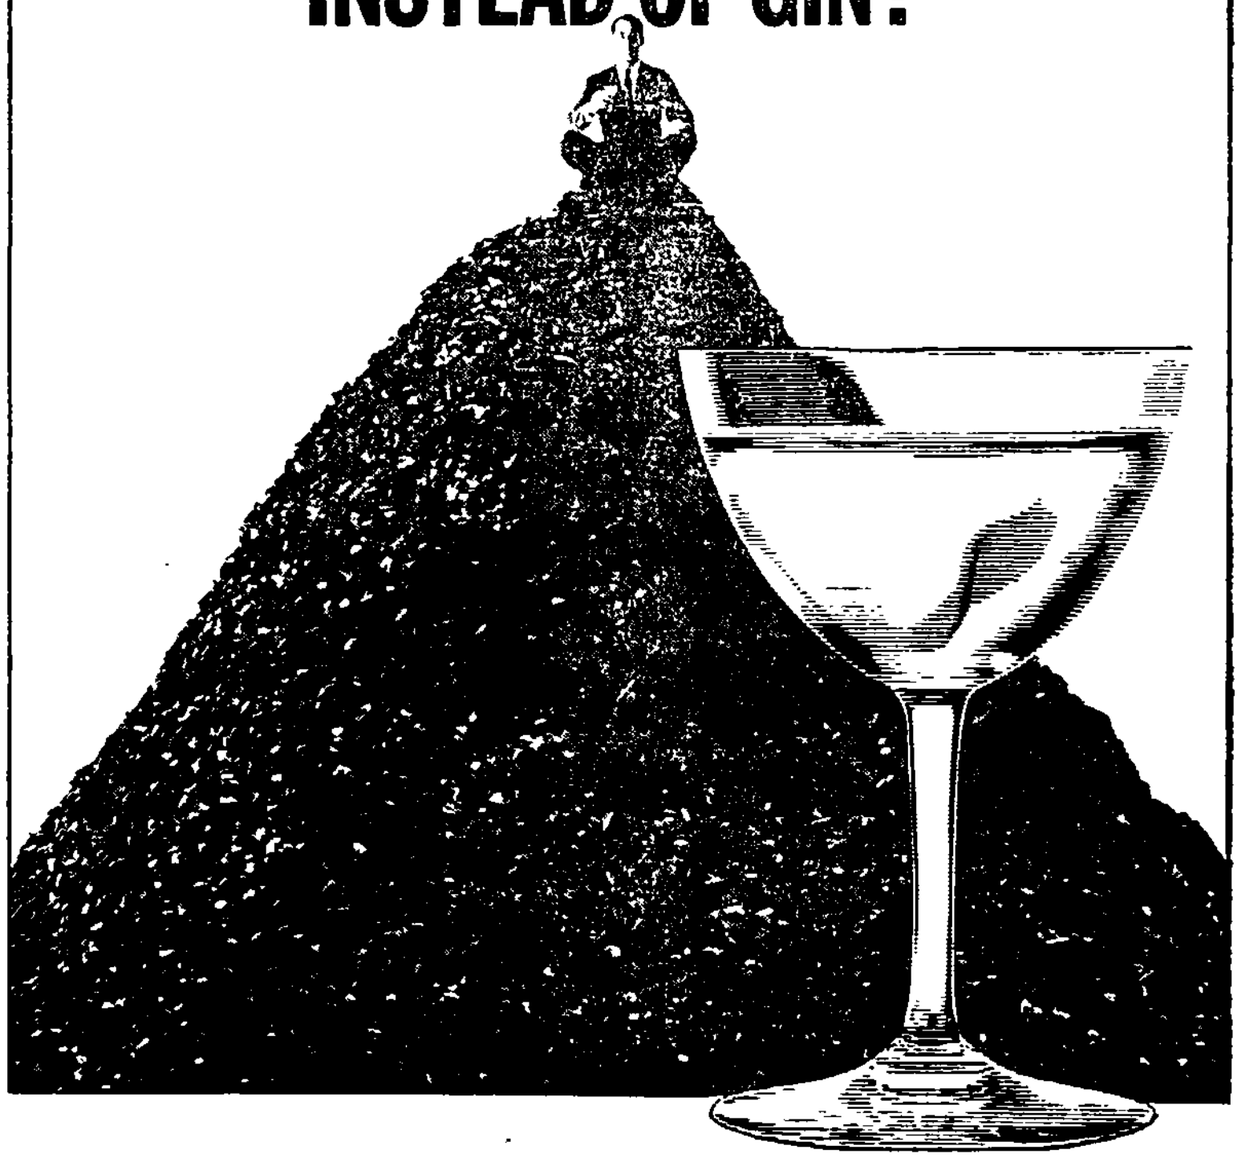
WHY SMIRNOFF INSTEAD OF GIN?



It's filtered through a "mountain" of charcoal

Smirnoff makes the dryest of Martinis because it's the dryest of liquors.

Every drop is filtered and refined through 7 tons of activated charcoal—14,000 pounds—literally a "mountain" of charcoal. This "black magic" removes most of the congeners. No wonder Smirnoff is the world's finest liquor; crystal clear and smooth with no noticeable liquor taste or odor.

Today Smirnoff outsells every brand of gin in America. Isn't it time you tried it?

Yellow Better Warning To Color Blind Driver

By TOM KEITH
Star Staff Writer

"There are 80,000 color blind drivers in Nebraska to whom red is not as startling a color as yellow," James C. Pope, State Board of Aeronautics safety coordinator, said at the Nebraska Accident Prevention Institute Tuesday, "but yellow lights are used only for the warning signals while red is used to denote danger."

The Institute, one of the most comprehensive ever held in Nebraska, opened Tuesday at the Nebraska Center.

Some 100-150 persons representing organizations such as the Red Cross, Lincoln Fire and Police Departments, schools, departments of health and labor, the Nebraska Game Commission, Nebraska Safety Council, Farm Bureau Federation, Omaha Safety Council, Farmers Union, optometrist associations and others, registered for the two-day meeting.

Six Groups

The institute, designed to cover all aspects of safety, was divided into six groups —safety on the farm, in the home, in industry, in traffic, in utilities, and in water, recreation and firearms.

"Red and green are not distinguishable by people who are color blind," said Pope, "but yellow and blue are."

"Nebraska has the worst railroad crossing signals of any state I have seen," said Pope. "Flashing strobe lights should be used at railroad crossings to call attention to them at a greater distance than the red light." He said the flashing strobe light should be white, yellow or blue.

"I believe flashing strobe lights would eliminate 90% of the railroad crossing accidents," he added.

Fire Techniques Shown At Institute

"Fire is made up of three component parts," said Fire Inspector DeWayne McIntyre. "Take away one of the three and you have eliminated your fire."

McIntyre and Inspector John Gabarron were demonstrating the basic principles of fire-fighting and fire prevention at the Nebraska Accident Prevention Institute Tuesday at the Nebraska Center.

McIntyre said the three elements necessary for a fire are fuel, oxygen and heat

Nothing's Fireproof

"There is no substance we know of today that is completely fireproof — the difference is in the ignition temperature of different substances," he said.

McIntyre and Gabarron gave several demonstrations of fire-fighting techniques and fire-causing errors.

McIntyre demonstrated the danger of high pressure cans, which he termed "potential bombs," when subjected to great heat.

"Always read the caution labels on the aerosol cans. Don't stop using the pressure can products—just use them carefully," he said.

A small flame thrower can be made by putting a match in the spray of many of the aerosol cans. McIntyre used a cigaret lighter and a can containing hair spray, to send flame flashing in front of him.

McIntyre said most fires could be avoided by using caution and good sense when working with combustible materials.

Rusk Sees No Detente Until Situation Smooths

St. Paul, Minn. (AP) — Secretary of State Dean Rusk said Tuesday the world situation will be dangerous until such critical issues as Berlin, Cuba and Southeast Asia are solved.

In a speech before Farmer's Union Grain Terminal Association, he said, "There can be no full and lasting detente between the communist states and the free world" without settlement of these political issues.

Calling each "critical and dangerous," he listed them as "the division of Berlin and Germany, the aggressions against Laos and South Viet Nam, and the use of Cuba as a base for subversive activity in Latin America."

Rusk said the United States continues to search earnestly and untiringly for an understanding with the communist world on measures to reduce the danger of war.

Limited Agreements

Some limited agreements with the Soviets have been already concluded, he said, citing the "hot line" Teletype communications link between Washington and Moscow, the limited test-ban treaty, and a U.N. declaration against placing nuclear weapons in outer space.

"These are small but useful steps toward peace . . .," Rusk said, but added, "the Soviets have not abandoned their aims of world revolution —and neither has Peking."

President Johnson's administration, Rusk said, is determined "to explore . . . earnestly and patiently every possibility of reaching agreements on further steps toward a more stable peace."

Rusk described the dispute between Soviet Russia and Red China as serious but not a complete break.

Patching Possible

He said the rift "might be patched up."

The secretary noted signs of growing nationalism throughout the communist bloc and stirrings indicating a longing for more personal freedom in the Soviet Union. The communist states also have economic problems, he said.

"It would be a mistake to expect these changes to come rapidly," Rusk continued, "but it would be a mistake to underestimate the power of historic nationalism and of the ideas of freedom."

He listed these foreign policy goals: check aggression and prove to aggressors their adventures are "unprofitable and dangerous;" improve relations with other free world nations; assist the less-developed nations; improve and strengthen the United Nations.

Risk Sues Lionel For $2,067,928

Omaha (AP) — A Nebraskan is suing the Lionel Corporation of New York for $2,067,928 charging break of an employment contract.

George Risk, Columbus, alleges Lionel agreed to elect him a vice-president and a director, but that instead he was employed only as a vice president of the western division.

Risk also alleges the corporation failed to secure the registration of certain stocks in Hathaway Instruments Inc., a Lionel subsidiary, thus depriving him of the right to dispose of the stock.

The suit was transferred from Platte County District Court to Federal District Court.

Western Interstate Approach Change Asked By Kimball

Sidney (AP) — Representatives of Kimball asked for a change in the western approach of the Interstate Highway to their city but otherwise proposed routing of the extreme western Nebraska portion of the superhighway brought little criticism at a hearing Tuesday.

A section of the Interstate has been completed from the Kimball County line on the east to a point south of the town which will be the site of an interchange. As now proposed, the route would angle southward at this point.

Kimball Mayor Charles Hein said residents want the highway to run a little farther west before turning south in order to give a better approach to the city from the west.

The testimony took place at a hearing before the Advisory Highway Commission. Chairman J. R. McBride of Minden said it was the calmest Interstate hearing the commission has conducted.

Kimball residents described their city as the gateway to Nebraska from the west. They said the population has grown to 7,000 and the city has many tourist accommodations. However, if the highway does not pass relatively close to town, they argued, tourists who might otherwise stop will keep going.

Kimball spokesmen indicated the community would be willing to move its water tower and golf club to facilitate the route they advocate.

Sidney witnesses expressed their pleasure with two proposed interchanges in place of one planned earlier.

The western section of the superhighway runs from Brule to the Wyoming state line. As now proposed, it would be just south of the present Highway in most places.

Some members of the Wyoming highway commission attended along with members of the Nebraska commission and State Engineer John Hossack.

FORD'S TOTAL PERFORMANCE TOUGHNESS DOMINATES THE COMPETITION WORLD!

Ford has chosen the most rugged testing program cars have ever faced . . . full-scale open competition on the rally and racing circuits of the world. This is the dramatic way to show that Fords have changed . . . and the sure way to be certain they keep on changing. Changed? Just look at the record:

STOCK CAR RACING:
2-to-1 margin for Ford
Ford is king of NASCAR competition and Ford Motor Company has the NASCAR Achievement Award to prove it. In the '63 season, special Ford entries won every single race of 500 miles or longer, scored nearly twice as many points as any other make. 500-mile races are the ultimate test of inherent durability and dependability. In two other major stock car racing associations, IMCA and MARC, Ford drivers have wrapped up the 1963 championships.

SPORTS CAR ROAD RACING:
Ford V-8 power is the new king
Here the Cobra with its special Fairlane engine emerged as the overwhelming leader in one short year. Cobra won the coveted Manufacturer's Trophy in SCCA Class A Production competition by so wide a margin no other cars—U.S. or foreign—were even in sight. And in the two major tests this fall, the Laguna Seca and Riverside races, the new King Cobras dusted off the top "unlimited" cars from all over the world.

RALLY COMPETITION:
Manufacturer's Championship
Products of Ford Motor Company and its worldwide affiliates won the 1963 Manufacturer's World Rally Championship. Ford's rally year began when two specially equipped Falcon V-8's startled the automotive world in the brutal 2500-mile Monte Carlo Rallye. Other special Falcon V-8's triumphed in Holland's famed Tulip Rally, and ran away with the Manufacturer's Team Prize in the 4000-mile Trans-Canada Rally.

INDIANAPOLIS:
Ford ends an era
Advanced Ford engineering smashed precedent in the classic Indianapolis "500." The first time out, a light alloy version of the Fairlane V-8 design in a Lotus chassis finished second. And the next time, in the Milwaukee "200" it ended the reign of the traditional "Indy" racing car by leading every foot of the way from start to finish.

PERFORMANCE & ECONOMY:
New laurels for Ford
The Mobil Economy Run underscored Falcon's years-long reputation for thrift—a Falcon scored first in Class B (medium-engined compacts). And the Pure Oil Performance Trials brought laurels to the big Fords, which walked off with overall wins in Classes I and II for total performance (economy, acceleration and braking).

Yellow Better Warning To Color Blind Driver

By TOM KEITH
Star Staff Writer

"There are 80,000 color blind drivers in Nebraska to whom red is not as startling a color as yellow," James C. Pope, State Board of Aeronautics safety coordinator, said at the Nebraska Accident Prevention Institute Tuesday, "but yellow lights are used only for the warning signals while red is used to denote danger."

The institute, one of the most comprehensive ever held in Nebraska, opened Tuesday at the Nebraska Center.

Some 100-150 persons representing organizations such as the Red Cross, Lincoln Fire and Police Departments, schools, departments of health and labor, the Nebraska Game Commission, Nebraska Safety Council, Farm Bureau Federation, Omaha Safety Council, Farmers Union, optometrist associations and others, registered for the two-day meeting.

Six Groups

The institute, designed to cover all aspects of safety, was divided into six groups —safety on the farm, in the home, in industry, in traffic, in utilities, and in water, recreation and firearms.

"Red and green are not distinguishable by people who are color blind," said Pope, "but yellow and blue are."

"Nebraska has the worst railroad crossing signals of any state I have seen," said Pope. "Flashing strobe lights should be used at railroad crossings to call attention to them at a greater distance than the red light." He said the flashing strobe light should be white, yellow or blue.

"I believe flashing strobe lights would eliminate 90% of the railroad crossing accidents," he added.

McINTYRE . . . makes 'flame thrower' from spray can, cigaret lighter.

Fire Techniques Shown At Institute

"Fire is made up of three component parts," said Fire Inspector DeWayne McIntyre. "Take away one of the three and you have eliminated your fire."

McIntyre and Inspector John Gabarron were demonstrating the basic principles of fire-fighting and fire prevention at the Nebraska Accident Prevention Institute Tuesday at the Nebraska Center.

McIntyre said the three elements necessary for a fire are fuel, oxygen and heat.

Nothing's Fireproof

"There is no substance we know of today that is completely fireproof — the difference is in the ignition temperature of different substances," he said.

McIntyre and Gabarron gave several demonstrations of fire-fighting techniques and fire-causing errors.

McIntyre demonstrated the danger of high pressure cans, which he termed "potential bombs," when subjected to great heat.

"Always read the caution labels on the aerosol cans. Don't stop using the pressure can products—just use them carefully," he said.

A small flame thrower can be made by putting a match in the spray of many of the aerosol cans. McIntyre used a cigaret lighter and a can containing hair spray, to send flame flashing in front of him.

McIntyre said most fires could be avoided by using caution and good sense when working with combustible materials.

Rusk Sees No Detente Until Situation Smooths

St. Paul, Minn. (AP) — Secretary of State Dean Rusk said Tuesday the world situation will be dangerous until such critical issues as Berlin, Cuba and Southeast Asia are solved.

In a speech before Farmer's Union Grain Terminal Association, he said, "There can be no full and lasting detente between the communist states and the free world" without settlement of these political issues.

Calling each "critical and dangerous," he listed them as "the division of Berlin and Germany, the aggressions against Laos and South Viet Nam, and the use of Cuba as a base for subversive activity in Latin America."

Rusk said the United States continues to search earnestly and untiringly for an understanding with the communist world on measures to reduce the danger of war.

Limited Agreements

Some limited agreements with the Soviets have been already concluded, he said, citing the "hot line" Teletype communications link between Washington and Moscow, the limited test-ban treaty, and a U.N. declaration against placing nuclear weapons in outer space.

"These are small but useful steps toward peace . . .," Rusk said, but added, "the Soviets have not abandoned their aims of world revolution —and neither has Peking."

President Johnson's administration, Rusk said, is determined "to explore . . . earnestly and patiently every possibility of reaching agreements on further steps toward a more stable peace."

Rusk described the dispute between Soviet Russia and Red China as serious but not a complete break.

Patching Possible

He said the rift "might be patched up."

The secretary noted signs of growing nationalism throughout the communist bloc and stirrings indicating a longing for more personal freedom in the Soviet Union. The communist states also have economic problems, he said.

"It would be a mistake to expect these changes to come rapidly," Rusk continued, "but it would be a mistake to underestimate the power of historic nationalism and of the ideas of freedom."

He listed these foreign policy goals: check aggression and prove to aggressors their adventures are "unprofitable and dangerous;" improve relations with other free world nations; assist the less-developed nations; improve and strengthen the United Nations.

It Doesn't Come Easy

By WILLIAM O. DOBLER

One of the local civic clubs sponsored a program that was of interest to many of its members. The club assisted the Salvation Army by manning the bells and kettles at downtown street corners. One of the members who so assisted came away from the experience, not exactly surprised, but wondering a little bit about things and people. He reported that he was now certain, for instance, that appearances are deceiving.

Everyone knows this as a generality but most people still persist in their subconscious in attempting to pigeon-hole people by their appearances. Some people appear rich, some poor, some kind, some nasty, some old, some young and on and on. When looking for people to give money, one has a tendency to expect it from those who appear to have plenty of it. They sort of look for something from the well-dressed person and those who, loaded down with packages, apparently are not suffering from a lack of funds. And then, there are those who, from their dress and their facial appearance, seem to be poor prospects.

The Deceptive Appearance

But our civic club friend found, as might be expected, that this is not the way things go, at all. He told of one couple, small in stature, with physical characteristics of a frugal life and dressed with a multitude of clothes. The final covering of clothing, for each, was overalls, topped with well worn jackets. They looked like the last two people who could afford to make a contribution.

However, the couple dropped fifty cents in the Army bucket, one of three fifty-cent pieces received by the club member in his hour and a half of bell ringing. A total of about $3 was taken in by this club member and nearly a like sum by his partner. For three man-hours of work, that isn't much of a take.

Our friend reported further on another unusual experience. Up to him and his partner walked a poorly dressed and emaciated appearing man who would have struck anyone as a panhandler. But instead of a handout, he asked for directions — to the Rock Island depot. On second thought, he wasn't sure which depot he wanted so he dug into his tattered jacket pocket and produced a Burlington train ticket. He turned after receiving directions, to go on his way. But again, he had a second thought, returned as he dug into his trousers pocket and came up with a smattering of small change. "It's all I've got," he said apologetically as he dropped it into the kettle and walked off into a cold north wind. And it is a pretty good bet that it was all the fellow had, except something inside that he would never have to part with.

Another contributor was also an unlikely looking one. He walked down the street with a companion, both of them dressed as though it were a cool spring evening. Our friend concluded that if he had to classify them, he would put them in some area of hard physical labor. They had somewhat of an uneducated look and appeared as though they might have no aversion to a little run-in now and then with anyone who might cross them. Certainly, they were not going to hear the bell ringing and see the almost empty kettle. But darned if one of them didn't sweeten the pot as he walked by. Two women contributors who didn't look the part played it just the same by adding their change to the Army cause.

And not all contributors were adults. A total of four children dropped pennies, nickels and dimes into the kettle as they walked by. Nor were they all white. Contributors included one Negro woman out of a very few who passed by. The bite was put on a few friends and thus the evening ended for our bell ringer.

Part of his experience was not only those who did contribute, but those who didn't. He was amazed at the constant flow of people past him, the vast majority of whom failed to drop in even one cent. He thought that if he had just collected a dime from every passerby, the evening would have been quite a success but, of course, a dime was not received from each and every person.

A lot of things can explain the small percentage of givers but you still wonder if the percentage isn't a little lower than it might be. The night was cold and many undoubtedly did not care to take off gloves and spend time digging around for change. Too, there are a multitude of places to give away money, especially at Christmas time. There isn't any doubt that many, many of those who passed the Army kettle by had already given of what they have to some other cause. Probably a lot of them had already given at one time or another to the Salvation Army drive.

The Number Of Non-Givers

But you wonder how many of them could have spared another twenty five cents and how many of them are always too busy or too thoughtless to think of the unfortunate people of our land. And you wonder if you'll ever be able to pass a kettle again without an uneasy thought of the widow's mite.

Wheel Tax Hike Needed

City Councilman John Mason is to be commended for his proposed doubling of the city's wheel tax. The tax now stands at $4 for passenger cars and would go to $8. The top on the heaviest trucks would be $40. Councilman Mason expects no thanks for his action as a tax increase is not exactly what the average person wants for Christmas.

But if this average person takes the time to think the matter out, he will at least credit Councilman Mason with a proper sense of his public responsibility. It is not the job of any public official to do just those things that are popular. A good public official is one who looks at the public need, the overall welfare of his community, and does what is obviously called for.

What is obviously called for often entails a certain amount of sacrifice. People don't like to get up early in the morning and go to work, either, but they recognize that they have to do this if they are going to meet the responsibilities of life. A whale of a lot of people would like to head south and watch the Huskers in the Orange Bowl on Jan. 1 but for most of them what they would like to do and what they can do are two different things.

Paying $8 instead of $4 for the wheel tax is nobody's idea of fun but it is something we are going to have to do if we intend to meet the transportation problems we face. If we intend to make Lincoln a community of opportunity, we have to provide the means for growth and one of these means is the adequate movement of traffic.

Lincoln is in such a position now that it doesn't even take a study to tell us that we need more revenue. There are not adequate street facilities in any single direction within the entire city and prospects for the future are very dim in view of the existing revenue picture.

Sen. McGee Speaks Out

In the face of persistent criticism of the rural electrification agencies, it is good that U.S. Senator Gale W. McGee, of Wyoming, arose to deal the opposition a few facts.

He was especially aroused by a Reader's Digest article, "The REA — a Case History of Bureaucracy Run Wild." He was similarly indignant over the relentless criticism of REA interest rates.

He asked, "Where were the private power companies 30 years ago when the rural areas were crying for electric service and hearing no answer? Where were these present interest rate critics back in the years when the federal treasury was paying less than 2 per cent for its money and charging the REAs from 3.5 per cent upward?"

Describing the REA movement as "Bureaucracy Run Wild" is far from the truth. Rural electrification was a do-it-yourself, grass roots movement and still is. The Rural Electrification Administration at Washington originated as and still is nothing more than a bank, one which was willing to extend credit to localized groups of small town and farm leaders who were willing to give their time and best efforts to build lines, and solicit customers so that rural people might enjoy the blessings of electrical service. They remain local groups still dedicated to maintaining the service at the lowest possible cost. This is not what bureaucracy is made of. They are pledged to thrifty operation and still require most of their direction on a non-pay basis.

Moreover, they are no drain on the taxpayer. They have an excellent record repaying their public borrowings and they have been thrifty enough that they are now able to provide $4 out of every $5 they need for investment.

Special Part Of America

All of the war and servicemen's national cemeteries hold a special place in the American heart, be they at home or overseas. But of all of them Arlington is the best known and the most generally visited.

It is primarily a resting place for men who served under the colors. Rank is not regarded. Privates sleep adjacent to generals. And in one portion of the cemetery, in a special shrine, are the remains of three unknown soldiers. One represents the dead of World War I, a second, World War II, and the third, the Korean conflict. Only two presidents repose in Arlington, William Howard Taft and John F. Kennedy. The 420 peaceful and beautiful acres now care for 121,029 dead, and space remains for 49,000 more.

Arlington is very much a part of American history. It was a colonial plantation and ultimately the site of the beautiful mansion house which still graces its lawn. It neighbors on Mount Vernon, the home of George and Martha Washington. The plantation knew the quiet colonial life, survived the revolution, witnessed the rising of the new national capitol, dozed contentedly through the early years of the new republic. It re-entered military history in 1861. At that time it was the home of Col. Robert E. Lee, brilliant army engineering officer, husband of a lateral descendant of Martha Custis Washington. Lee, himself, a descendant of a Virginia line dating into the 1660's and son of a famous revolutionary figure Col. Light Horse Harry Lee, resigned from the U.S. Army to lead the Confederate Army of Virginia.

Business And Labor Make Pledge To LBJ

WASHINGTON—It's been well publicized that President Johnson had two sessions last week with American business leaders and American labor leaders. Exactly what happened at the two closed door meetings has not been publicized.

Most unique development was the private support which business leaders gave Johnson. Many came away just as enthusiastic as the labor leaders, who were considered in Johnson's corner in the first place.

Johnson gave a short talk to the Business Advisory Council, which includes the top brass of the business world, then sat down in the cabinet room to chat with them individually. Thus was what they seemed to enjoy most.

In the group was Sidney Weinberg, head of Goldman, Sachs and the man who raised $3,000,000 to finance the big radio-TV political punch of Eisenhower's 1952 campaign.

Also present was Henry Ford II, head of the far flung automobile empire who was a strong Eisenhower-Nixon supporter. His former associate, Ernie Breech, who has guided the destinies of both Ford and General Motors and is now chairman of Trans World Airlines, was also present.

All expressed their appreciation of the new President. But the man who seemed most appreciative was Crawford Greenwalt, head of the giant Du Pont Company. The Du Pont family is one of the heaviest contributors to the Republican party, usually tosses about $200,000 into the GOP kitty at every election. During recent years they have been battling against the Justice Department regarding the split up of Du Pont-General Motors stock, a suit begun under the Democrats.

Johnson's meeting with labor leaders was held one hour earlier, and the President kidded his Secretary of Commerce, Luther Hodges, who sat in on the labor session that he had got here "a little too early" for the business conference.

At the meeting with labor leaders, Johnson did more listening than talking, as AFL-CIO President George Meany outlined his worries over unemployment and automation.

This incidentally was Meany's second session with Johnson since the death of President Kennedy. Johnson had phoned Meany after receiving a sympathetic telegram, had told him he was going to need his support.

"You'll get it," blurted the brusque labor leader.

Eisenhower Vetoes Nixon Candidacy

WASHINGTON—When former President Eisenhower dropped down to the No. 2 candidate on the 1960 Republican presidential ticket, Henry Cabot Lodge, as his choice to head the ticket in 1964, his veto of No. 1, Richard Nixon, was necessarily intended.

Political circles rather widely share the view that Nixon is not well placed for the next race. But they do not believe that Ambassador Lodge, for all his personal distinction and experience, is electable. It would take a concerted Eisenhower-Lodge drive of startling proportions to alter that verdict.

The Eisenhower contribution does add to the interest and excitement of the changed political situation. It brings him down on the side of those Republicans who believe no time should be lost in attacking President Johnson and the Democrats, raising money and steaming up the troops.

It is the more comforting to the Republicans that he has chosen to do this because no one denies that the romance between Eisenhower and the American people is still on and represents a great asset to the Republican party if properly exploited.

The former president had already expressed doubts about the Goldwater candidacy, so he has not subtracted much from it with his latest act. He has dashed hopes entertained by Gov. Nelson Rockefeller that in the end all the Eisenhower Republicans, including their leader, would come to him.

It does not appear that General Eisenhower explained himself to other Republican hopefuls before revealing that his first campaign manager was his personal choice. One has expressed annoyance that he did not. Sen. Barry Goldwater had nothing to say immediately. He has left orders at the Capitol that he is not available to reporters until he lifts the ban. That just about means a mute December, as he is shortly to do 15 days reserve duty with the Air Force.

The fact is that neither party today has solved the problem of how to appeal to the big states. The vacuum left by the assassination of President Kennedy stares both parties in the face and scares them hugely. They know they must try to fill it; they haven't figured out how.

Confused situations prevail in key states. In New York President Johnson sought to identify with a liberal Democratic party by paying homage to the departed statesman, Herbert Lehman, who was loved and honored above most men. But it could not be lost on so experienced a politician as the President that he was standing with elder politicians and that a vigorous and captivating younger generation which could go out and do battle for him was sadly lacking.

Similarly, Rep. Robert Taft Jr., who will run for the Senate next year, has calmly said it will be difficult to carry Ohio for the Republicans if Goldwater is the presidential nominee. Party managers had been trying to keep that argument private.

Ohio and New York typify situations where President Kennedy hoped to win by sheer personal magic. Many observers felt he would.

RUTH MONTGOMERY

Thompson, Top Kremlinologist

WASHINGTON — To deal with communist strategy in the crucial months ahead, President Lyndon B. Johnson will be leaning heavily on a western rancher's son who has become our recognized authority on the Kremlin.

The evening of President Kennedy's funeral, when JFK's successor talked for nearly an hour with Soviet Deputy Premier Anastas I. Mikoyan, ambassador-at-large Llewellyn Thompson was at his side.

Having recently served as U.S. ambassador to Moscow for five years—longer than any other—Thompson is the American best qualified to interpret the twists and turns of Kremlin policy.

Those who are seeking a roadmap to guide them along those tortuous twists should give heed to some Thompsonian advice: "The trouble with Americans is that we see everything in black or white, but there's a lot of grey in diplomacy. Foreign relations is a very fluid business—the heads of Britain, Germany, Italy and the U.S. have all changed within the last few weeks—and this is upsetting to Americans who like to maintain fixed positions. We must remember that the sandbars as well as the currents are constantly shifting."

A sudden crisis has interrupted every vacation he's tried to take in recent years. In fact, he was summoned back from Cape Cod three times last summer by President Kennedy.

Presiding over Spaso House, our palatial ambassadorial residence in Moscow, and whispering into the right ear of presidents has given Thompson an ulcer that might never have developed, if he had stuck to ranching.

Llewellyn Thompson's father went West in the days of Indian scalpings, when every man kept a gun in his cabin. Nonetheless, the elder Thompson was never called upon for more bravery than this son, in the so-called spats-and-cane foreign service, later exhibited in Russia during World War II. "Tommy" was one of only four foreign diplomats to stick it out at his Moscow post, while the rest of the diplomatic colony evacuated for safety to Kuibishev in October 1941.

☆ ☆ ☆

First secretary Thompson, then a bachelor who was apparently considered expendable, stayed on at our U.S. embassy — a Japanese, a Swede and a Bulgarian were the only other envoys in town —while artillery fire lighted the night skies, a tank trap was dug in front of our embassy, and Nazi patrols sneaked within six miles of Moscow. For that gallantry, he was later awarded the Medal of Freedom, our highest civilian decoration.

After the war, the precise-spoken Thompson frequently criss-crossed the Atlantic. He was minister-counselor for a time in Rome, high commissioner and U.S. ambassador to Austria, and finally ambassador to Russia.

In the interval between his first and second missions to Moscow, the reserved diplomat met vivacious Jane Monroe Goelet on the S. S. Saturnia while he was enroute to a State Department conference in Rome. She was on holiday, and the mid-fortyish bachelor was so smitted by the poised daughter of a Massachusetts research chemist that they were married within three months.

Thompson seems always to have himself under exquisite control. This correspondent met him first in Moscow, while accompanying Vice President Richard M. Nixon on his historic tour through Russia and Siberia.

Thompson at that time seemed reserved, taciturn, and somewhat austere; yet he so impressed Premier Khrushchev with his precise mind and tough bargaining abilities that for the first time a free-world ambassador and his family were invited to Khrushchev's dacha outside Moscow.

"Tommy" Thompson had been angling for reassignment even before the '60 elections. Any American who has tried to live for long in Russia with growing children can understand why. Like a good soldier, however, he agreed to stay on indefinitely at the new President's request.

He was there throughout our Bay of Pigs fiasco in Cuba, but at last obtained a reprieve in July of 1962. The Thompsons returned home, and joyously set forth on a Colorado vacation. Almost immediately "Tommy" was stricken with a kidney-stone attack, and hospitalized for surgery.

When he at last could resume his duties behind a big desk in the State Department, his doctors ordered an "easy schedule." The communists wait for no man's convenience, however, and almost immediately the October '62 Cuban crisis erupted.

How would the Russians react to our eyeball-to-eyeball confrontation? Lewellyn Thompson was the man who might know, so he began working 18-hour days. After Khrushchev finally "blinked," in the words of Secretary of State Dean Rusk, Thompson was among those to whom President Kennedy gave a commemorative calendar in appreciation of his services.

Thompson's father, who had tasted life in our raw pioneering days, discouraged his son from becoming a rancher. Young Tommy therefore decided to enter the importing business in Seattle, but first joined the foreign service to "get a little experience."

Man had found job! In the intervening 34 years, his love affair with his work has never cooled.

Seated in his impressive office in the new State Department building, I asked his opinion of the foreign service as a career. In his reticient, understated way, he replied:

"I think it's wonderful. It has its heartaches, but all other work seems pale by comparison."

President Johnson, like Presidents Kennedy, Eisenhower, Truman and Roosevelt, may rest a little easier because Llewellyn Thompson is on call.

Proud Of America

Lincoln, Neb.

I found The Star's headline story for Friday, Dec. 6, very interesting. It said: "Senator Hits Puritanism." I think the senator should read the foreign news.

He might remember the mess in the Congo. Nothing like that happened when the British recognized us in 1783. Some of the Loyalists went to Canada and the West Indies but there were few riots or lynchings.

He might look to the south of us at Venezuela, an independent nation since 1830. In 137 years, they are having two "firsts." Betancourt has lived out his term of office and has held a free election to get a successor.

He talks about vigilantes. In most of the cases, there were no law men to arrest crooks, no judges to try them, and no jails to put them in. In most cases, the vigilantes dispensed justice because no one else would or could.

I am not holding that Americans or the American way of life are perfect. I just think they are a long way ahead of anybody else's. The fact that we have been able to handle integration without dictatorship or civil war is a thing to feel proud of. That our military forces have remained loyal through 187 years of our history is better than any other major power can say. No president has ever been impeached or has fallen because of armed revolt and every one of them has been freely elected and peacefully accepted after he was. No other nation can say that.

I'm tired of having free enterprise, democracy, the American school system and all the rest that makes up the American way of life blamed for everything bad that happens. The free enterprise system has made us — a nation of 4% of the world's population—the possessors of 50% of the world's wealth.

Unlike the Russians, we have not had to put 13 million in prison, starve another 10 million to death, or live under a reign of terror.

Democracy has worked for us, and well. Our two-party system has insured stable, responsible government and has avoided the pitfall of the coalition government.

We are not perfect but we have still come closer than anyone else. Every nation has its malcontents and opponents of the status quo. Here, we have used their good ideas and junked their bad ones. We can be glad that in America Barry Goldwater may talk as long as he wants without being jailed and that he chooses to talk rather than raise the standard of revolt.

I am plain tired of people's using Mr. Kennedy's death to further their aims and ambitions and using America as a whipping boy.

Describing the REA movement as "Bureaucracy Run Wild" is far from the truth. Rural electrification was a do-it-yourself, grass roots movement and still is. The Rural Electrification Administration at Washington originated as and still is nothing more than a bank, one which was willing to extend credit to localized groups of small town and farm leaders who were willing to give their time and best efforts to build lines, and solicit customers so that rural people might enjoy the blessings of electrical service. They remain local groups still dedicated to maintaining the service at the lowest possible cost. This is not what bureaucracy is made of. They are pledged to thrifty operation and still require most of their direction on a non-pay basis.

Moreover, they are no drain on the taxpayer. They have an excellent record repaying their public borrowings and they have been thrifty enough that they are now able to provide $4 out of every $5 they need for investment.

Special Part Of America

All of the war and servicemen's national cemeteries hold a special place in the American heart, be they at home or overseas. But of all of them Arlington is the best known and the most generally visited.

It is primarily a resting place for men who served under the colors. Rank is not regarded. Privates sleep adjacent to generals. And in one portion of the cemetery, in a special shrine, are the remains of three unknown soldiers. One represents the dead of World War I, a second, World War II, and the third, the Korean conflict. Only two presidents repose in Arlington, William Howard Taft and John F. Kennedy. The 420 peaceful and beautiful acres now care for 121,029 dead, and space remains for 49,000 more.

Arlington is very much a part of American history. It was a colonial plantation and ultimately the site of the beautiful mansion house which still graces its lawn. It neighbors on Mount Vernon, the home of George and Martha Washington. The plantation knew the quiet colonial life, survived the revolution, witnessed the rising of the new national capitol, dozed contentedly through the early years of the new republic. It re-entered military history in 1861. At that time it was the home of Col. Robert E. Lee, brilliant army engineering officer, husband of a lateral descendant of Martha Custis Washington. Lee, himself, a descendant of a Virginia line dating into the 1600's and son of a famous revolutionary figure Col. Light Horse Harry Lee, resigned from the U.S. Army to lead the Confederate Army of Virginia.

Business And Labor Make Pledge To LBJ

WASHINGTON—It's been well publicized that President Johnson had two sessions last week with American business leaders and American labor leaders. Exactly what happened at the two closed door meetings has not been publicized.

Most unique development was the private support which business leaders gave Johnson. Many came away just as enthusiastic as the labor leaders, who were considered in Johnson's corner in the first place.

Johnson gave a short talk to the Business Advisory Council, which includes the top brass of the business world, then sat down in the cabinet room to chat with them individually. This was what they seemed to enjoy most.

In the group was Sidney Weinberg, head of Goldman, Sachs and the man who raised $3,000,000 to finance the big radio-TV political punch of Eisenhower's 1952 campaign.

Also present was Henry Ford II, head of the far flung automobile empire who was a strong Eisenhower-Nixon supporter. His former associate, Ernie Breech, who has guided the destinies of both Ford and General Motors and is now chairman of Trans World Airlines, was also present.

All expressed their appreciation of the new President. But the man who seemed most appreciative was Crawford Greenwalt, head of the giant Du Pont Company. The Du Pont family is one of the heaviest contributors to the Republican party, usually tosses about $200,000 into the GOP kitty at every election. During recent years they have been battling against the Justice Department regarding the split up of Du Pont-General Motors stock, a suit begun under the Democrats.

☆ ☆ ☆

Johnson's meeting with labor leaders was held one hour earlier, and the President kidded his Secretary of Commerce, Luther Hodges, who sat in on the labor session that he had got here "a little too early" for the business conference.

At the meeting with labor leaders, Johnson did more listening than talking, as AFL-CIO President George Meany outlined his worries over unemployment and automation.

This incidentally was Meany's second session with Johnson since the death of President Kennedy. Johnson had phoned Meany after receiving a sympathetic telegram, had told him he was going to need his support.

"You'll get it," blurted the brusque labor leader.

Eisenhower Vetoes Nixon Candidacy

WASHINGTON—When former President Eisenhower dropped down to the No. 2 candidate on the 1960 Republican presidential ticket, Henry Cabot Lodge, as his choice to head the ticket in 1964, his veto of No. 1, Richard Nixon, was necessarily intended.

Political circles rather widely share the view that Nixon is not well placed for the next race. But they do not believe that Ambassador Lodge, for all his personal distinction and experience, is electable. It would take a concerted Eisenhower-Lodge drive of startling proportions to alter that verdict.

The Eisenhower contribution does add to the interest and excitement of the changed political situation. It brings him down on the side of those Republicans who believe no time should be lost in attacking President Johnson and the Democrats, raising money and steaming up the troops.

It is the more comforting to the Republicans that he has chosen to do this because no one denies that the romance between Eisenhower and the American people is still on and represents a great asset to the Republican party if properly exploited.

The former president had already expressed doubts about the Goldwater candidacy, so he has not subtracted much from it with his latest act. He has dashed hopes entertained by Gov. Nelson Rockefeller that in the end all the Eisenhower Republicans, including their leader, would come to him.

It does not appear that General Eisenhower explained himself to other Republican hopefuls before revealing that his first campaign manager was his personal choice. One has expressed annoyance that he did not. Sen. Barry Goldwater had nothing to say immediately. He has left orders at the Capitol that he is not available to reporters until he lifts the ban. That just about means a mute December, as he is shortly to do 15 days reserve duty with the Air Force.

The fact is that neither party today has solved the problem of how to appeal to the big states. The vacuum left by the assassination of President Kennedy stares both parties in the face and scares them hugely. They know they must try to fill it; they haven't figured out how.

☆ ☆ ☆

Confused situations prevail in key states. In New York President Johnson sought to identify with a liberal Democratic party by paying homage to the departed statesman, Herbert Lehman, who was loved and honored above most men. But it could not be lost on so experienced a politician as the President that he was standing with elder politicians and that a vigorous and captivating younger generation which could go out and do battle for him was sadly lacking.

Similarly, Rep. Robert Taft Jr., who will run for the Senate next year, has calmly said it will be difficult to carry Ohio for the Republicans if Goldwater is the presidential nominee. Party managers had been trying to keep that argument private.

Ohio and New York typify situations where President Kennedy hoped to win by sheer personal magic. Many observers felt he would.

RUTH MONTGOMERY

Thompson, Top Kremlinologist

WASHINGTON — To deal with communist strategy in the crucial months ahead, President Lyndon B. Johnson will be leaning heavily on a western rancher's son who has become our recognized authority on the Kremlin.

The evening of President Kennedy's funeral, when JFK's successor talked for nearly an hour with Soviet Deputy Premier Anastas I. Mikoyan, ambassador-at-large Llewellyn Thompson was at his side.

Having recently served as U.S. ambassador to Moscow for five years—longer than any other—Thompson is the American best qualified to interpret the twists and turns of Kremlin policy.

Those who are seeking a roadmap to guide them along those tortuous twists should give heed to some Thompsonian advice: "The trouble with Americans is that we see everything in black or white, but there's a lot of grey in diplomacy. Foreign relations is a very fluid business—the heads of Britain, Germany, Italy and the U.S. have all changed within the last few weeks—and this is upsetting to Americans who like to maintain fixed positions. We must remember that the sandbars as well as the currents are constantly shifting."

A sudden crisis has interrupted every vacation he's tried to take in recent years. In fact, he was summoned back from Cape Cod three times last summer by President Kennedy.

Presiding over Spaso House, our palatial ambassadorial residence in Moscow, and whispering into the right ear of presidents has given Thompson an ulcer that might never have developed, if he had stuck to ranching.

Llewellyn Thompson's father went West in the days of Indian scalpings, when every man kept a gun in his cabin. Nonetheless, the elder Thompson was never called upon for more bravery than this son, in the so-called spats-and-cane foreign service, later exhibited in Russia during World War II. "Tommy" was one of only four foreign diplomats to stick it out at his Moscow post, while the rest of the diplomatic colony evacuated for safety to Kuibishev in October 1941.

☆ ☆ ☆

First secretary Thompson, then a bachelor who was apparently considered expendable, stayed on at our U.S. embassy — a Japanese, a Swede and a Bulgarian were the only other envoys in town —while artillery fire lighted the night skies, a tank trap was dug in front of our embassy, and Nazi patrols sneaked within six miles of Moscow. For that gallantry, he was later awarded the Medal of Freedom, our highest civilian decoration.

After the war, the precise-spoken Thompson frequently criss-crossed the Atlantic. He was minister-counselor for a time in Rome, high commissioner and U.S. ambassador to Austria, and finally ambassador to Russia.

In the interval between his first and second missions to Moscow, the reserved diplomat met vivacious Jane Monroe Goelet on the S. S. Saturnia while he was enroute to a State Department conference in Rome. She was on holiday, and the mid-fortyish bachelor was so smitted by the poised daughter of a Massachusetts research chemist that they were married within three months.

☆ ☆ ☆

Thompson seems always to have himself under exquisite control. This correspondent met him first in Moscow, while accompanying Vice President Richard M. Nixon on his historic tour through Russia and Siberia.

Thompson at that time seemed reserved, taciturn, and somewhat austere; yet he so impressed Premier Khrushchev with his precise mind and tough bargaining abilities that for the first time a free-world ambassador and his family were invited to Khrushchev's dacha outside Moscow.

☆ ☆ ☆

"Tommy" Thompson had been angling for reassignment even before the '60 elections. Any American who has tried to live for long in Russia with growing children can understand why. Like a good soldier, however, he agreed to stay on indefinitely at the new President's request.

He was there throughout our Bay of Pigs fiasco in Cuba, but at last obtained a reprieve in July of 1962. The Thompsons returned home, and joyously set forth on a Colorado vacation. Almost immediately "Tommy" was stricken with a kidney-stone attack, and hospitalized for surgery.

When he at last could resume his duties behind a big desk in the State Department, his doctors ordered an "easy schedule." The communists wait for no man's convenience, however, and almost immediately the October '62 Cuban crisis erupted.

How would the Russians react to our eyeball-to-eyeball confrontation? Lewellyn Thompson was the man who might know, so he began working 18-hour days. After Khrushchev finally "blinked," in the words of Secretary of State Dean Rusk, Thompson was among those to whom President Kennedy gave a commemorative calendar in appreciation of his services.

☆ ☆ ☆

Thompson's father, who had tasted life in our raw pioneering days, discouraged his son from becoming a rancher. Young Tommy therefore decided to enter the importing business in Seattle, but first joined the foreign service to "get a little experience."

Man had found job! In the intervening 34 years, his love affair with his work has never cooled.

Seated in his impressive office in the new State Department building, I asked his opinion of the foreign service as a career. In his reticient, understated way, he replied:

"I think it's wonderful. It has its heartaches, but all other work seems pale by comparison."

President Johnson, like Presidents Kennedy, Eisenhower, Truman and Roosevelt, may rest a little easier because Llewellyn Thompson is on call.

Proud Of America

Lincoln, Neb.

I found The Star's headline story for Friday, Dec. 6, very interesting. It said: "Senator Hits Puritanism." I think the senator should read the foreign news.

He might remember the mess in the Congo. Nothing like that happened when the British recognized us in 1783. Some of the Loyalists went to Canada and the West Indies but there were few riots or lynchings.

He might look to the south of us at Venezuela, an independent nation since 1830. In 137 years, they are having two "firsts." Betancourt has lived out his term of office and has held a free election to get a successor.

He talks about vigilantes. In most of the cases, there were no law men to arrest crooks, no judges to try them, and no jails to put them in. In most cases, the vigilantes dispensed justice because no one else would or could.

I am not holding that Americans or the American way of life are perfect. I just think they are a long way ahead of anybody else's. The fact that we have been able to handle integration without dictatorship or civil war is a thing to feel proud of. That our military forces have remained loyal through 187 years of our history is better than any other major power can say. No president has ever been impeached or has fallen because of armed revolt and every one of them has been freely elected and peacefully accepted after he was. No other nation can say that.

I'm tired of having free enterprise, democracy, the American school system and all the rest that makes up the American way of life blamed for everything bad that happens. The free enterprise system has made us—a nation of 4% of the world's population—the possessors of 50% of the world's wealth.

Unlike the Russians, we have not had to put 13 million in prison, starve another 10 million to death, or live under a reign of terror.

Democracy has worked for us, and well. Our two-party system has insured stable, responsible government and has avoided the pitfall of the coalition government.

We are not perfect but we have still come closer than anyone else. Every nation has its malcontents and opponents of the status quo. Here, we have used their good ideas and junked their bad ones. We can be glad that in America Barry Goldwater may talk as long as he wants without being jailed and that he chooses to talk rather than raise the standard of revolt.

I am plain tired of people's using Mr. Kennedy's death to further their aims and ambitions and using America as a whipping boy.

Deep Sorrow

Lincoln, Neb.

The shot of the assassin that laid low our great President in the height of his glory was heard around the world and is still reverberating. It was so terrific and startling that it not only shocked us but stunned many almost into insensibility. It plunged us into deep and prolonged sorrow from which there is no speedy recovery.

"Be still and know that I am God" is appropriate to remember during this time of crisis.

Grenade Hits Group In Aden

Aden (AP)— A hand grenade was hurled Tuesday at the British high commissioner and his party as they were about to leave Aden airport for London, killing a woman and wounding 39 other persons.

Sir Kennedy Trevaskis, the high commissioner, escaped with a shrapnel cut on one finger. But three of his aides and an official of the Federation of South Arabia were more seriously injured.

A state of emergency was declared as police pressed a hunt for the bomber, who escaped in the confusion. He might have been a Yemeni or an Arab nationalist. Both revolutionary Yemen and Arab nationalists opposed formation of the British-protected federation of Aden and the sheikdoms, sultanates and emirates in southern Arabia.

An expert on Middle East affairs, Sir Kennedy planned to head the delegation of federation and British officials to London to discuss plans for elections next year. Instead, he remained behind to direct the investigation.

Witnesses said the bomb was thrown from a spectators' gallery of an airport building and landed in a flower bed near the official party. Persons in the gallery were quickly rounded up and questioned, but none was arrested.

Mrs. Jamnadas Bhagavanji, 38, of India, who was about to board the plane with her family, was wounded fatally in the back.

Wounded were three British officials, Deputy Assistant Commissioner George Henderson, federal Ministry of Information Secretary Jim Foster and L. J. Hobson, Trevaskis' information adviser.

Sultan Ahmed Bin Abdullah Al-Fadhli, minister of information and national guidance, was wounded in the stomach and feet. Sheriff Hussein Bin Ahmed Al-Habeili, federal minister of the interior, was hit in the hand.

Struck in the face was Ahmed Adl-Shami, foreign minister of the deposed royalist regime in Yemen. He had been on a visit to Aden.

The talks in London were to settle a dispute over an election of a local legislature in Aden, the former British crown colony that was joined to the Federation of South Arabia last Jan. 18.

The present legislature expires Jan. 18. Adens want a wholly elected legislative body to replace the present 23-member legislative council, on which seven members are nominated by the British representative.

Johnson Calls For 'Kennedy Coin'

Washington (AP) — President Johnson, responding to the wishes of many Americans, asked Congress Tuesday to authorize a new 50-cent piece bearing the likeness of the late President John F. Kennedy.

A few hours later Chairman Wright Patman, D-Tex., of the House Banking and Currency Committee introduced a bill authorizing the coin. He said the committee would consider it Thursday.

If approved quickly, present plans are to have the coin in circulation early next year.

Little Cost

The design—to be taken from a "presidential series medal" now being produced by the Philadelphia Mint — is already in existence and little cost or delay would be entailed in making new dies, the White House said.

Johnson made his request in a message to Congress saying:

"I strongly recommend the enactment of this proposed legislation at the earliest possible date in order that the likeness of President Kennedy will appear on the 50-cent coins issued at the beginning of the calendar year 1964."

A White House statement said many Americans had written since Kennedy was assassinated Nov. 22, asking that his likeness be placed on a coin.

All Presidents

Kennedy would replace Benjamin Franklin on the half-dollar and give the nation the likeness of a former president on each of the five denominations of coins now produced by the mint.

They are: one-cent (Lincoln), five-cent (Jefferson), 10-cent (Roosevelt), and 25 cent (Washington).

Congressional approval of the change is necessary, however, because the Franklin half dollar has been in circulation less than 25 years. If it had been in use longer than 25 years the Treasury could on its own change the design.

McNamara Raps Congress For Trimming Military Aid

Washington (AP) — Congress already has lowered the ceiling on military foreign aid spending far below the minimum required to insure peace and free world security, Secretary of Defense Robert S. McNamara declared Tuesday.

He urged the Senate Appropriations Committee not to reduce the fund below the shrunken $1 billion authorization figure. To do so, McNamara said, would "multiply the risk of large expenditures of American funds and American lives in any outbreak of hostilities."

The $405 million cut from the administration's $1,405,000,000 authorization request, McNamara said, already will require "a complete reappraisal of the program."

Signals Switched

As the secretary's statement on the appropriations measure was read at the committee's closed session by Assistant Secretary William P. Bundy, the Senate switched signals and put off until Thursday voting on $3.6 billion aid authorization bill which sets the $1 billion military ceiling. The House passed that compromise version Monday.

Senate Democratic Leader Mike Mansfield of Montana told newsmen two other bills were scheduled ahead of the foreign aid measure. No action will be sought Wednesday, for that has been set aside for a memorial service for the late President John F. Kennedy.

But one form of U.S. overseas help moved a step forward in Congress during the day as the Senate Foreign Relations Committee approved unanimously a bill authorizing expansion of the Peace Corps. Mansfield said he hopes to take this up in the Senate Friday.

$102 Million

The House-passed measure would authorize $102 million for the crops during the current year which started last July 1—to get 11,300 volunteers in service by the end of next August. The total compares to $59 million appropriation last year.

Funds for the crops will be included later in a catch-all appropriations bill which also include the foreign aid money.

McNamara told the closed session of the Appropriations Committee that if he had his choice he would have taken the $405 million cut from military aid out of the U.S. defense budget. He told the senators:

Short-Sighted

"Short-sighted reductions in military assistance will inevitably decrease the military potential of our allies and thus increase requirements of our own defense budget."

'THE WEASEL' CAPTURED BY FLYING SQUAD

London (AP) —A chase over London's rooftops ended Tuesday night with Scotland Yard flying squad capturing "The Weasel," 28-year-old racing driver Roy James, as the prime suspect in the great train robbery.

Thirty men from the flying squad, the yard's plain-clothes elite, smashed through locked doors and windows of a yellow painted cottage in the swank St. John's Wood District.

As they streamed in The Weasel clambered out of a skylight and scrambled along the roofs of adjoining houses.

The yard men swarmed after him. Within minutes the cry went up: "We've got him."

James was driven under heavy escort to the Yard's Thames-side headquarters and charged with plotting and performing the greatest robbery in British history—the Aug. 8 train holdup that netted 2,262,747 pounds ($7,354,891).

The precise terms of the charge were "conspiracy to rob and being concerned in robbing 120 mail bags."

Then, sandwiched between senior yard men, James was driven off to Aylesbury in Buckinghamshire, near the robbery scene, to appear before a magistrate Wednesday.

Senate Group Finally Ends Tax Cut Hearings

Washington (UPI) — The Senate Finance Committee completed its lengthy public hearings Tuesday on the $11 billion bill to grant across-the-board tax cuts for every U.S. taxpayer.

Chairman Harry F. Byrd, D-Va., said the committee would meet in executive session Wednesday to start voting on amendments. The number of amendments to the bill has grown to 33, with more expected to be introduced later.

Federal Reserve Board Chairman William McChesney Martin was the 132nd, and last, public witness before the committee swung closed the paneled hardwood doors shortly after noon on its open hearings which started Oct. 15.

Martin told the committee that the government could finance future budget deficits, but he warned that interest rates may rise as a check against inflationary trends if tax cuts are enacted.

"We can handle these deficits," Martin testified. "But we must face up to the possibility that this may lead to higher interest rates.

As a banker's banker, Martin also endorsed the bill in general, providing tax reduction succeeds in stimulating the economy.

According to committee aides, Martin was the 132nd public witness. Another 300 persons or more filed statements pro and con with the committee during its two months of open hearings.

Where does the bill go now?

There is no chance for final action this year. But Byrd promised President Johnson last week that a bill would be cleared by the 17-member committee in due course next year.

Do Pop Music Composers Really Deserve Royalties?

London (AP) —The composers of popular music in this country, they think they deserve royalties? Why?

When one of the top British pop groups like the Beatles is giving out, who hears any music?

Screams from the girls in the audience, that's what you hear.

This novel proposition was put to a tribunal of the British Performing Rights Tuesday by attorney Duncan Ranking. The Performing Rights Society is the British equivalent of America's ASCAP, which undertakes to see that composers of music get a fair royalty when their music is played before a paying audience.

Until now, the tribunal has settled for one per cent of 75% of what a concert hall would take if it had a full house.

Proposal

The tribunal proposed recently to skim off a flat four per cent of the box office takings, whatever.

Ranking, who represents a big group of halls, described this as nonsense.

"The screaming of the teenagers in the audience, especially the girls," Ranking stated, 'drowns out the music.'

"The music is not, therefore, vital to the performance. It is the artists who count most."

Stanley Fishman, spokesman for another complex of concert halls, agreed with Ranking.

"The more popular the act," he explained, "the louder the screaming becomes. It often makes the music inaudible."

Loud And Clear

Ranking played a tape recording of a concert by the Beatles, currently the hottest pop group in the nation. The members listened to it gravely. The screaming came through loud and clear.

The Beatles are four boys from Liverpool with their hair worn in bangs. They have guitars and in their choruses they go 'yeah, yeah, yeah."

Their style is called the Mersey beat because Liverpool is on the Mersey River.

Teen agers go mad and policemen get shoved around in the queues for tickets to the Beatle concerts.

After the tribunal heard the Beatles and the screams on the tape recording, it adjourned until Wednesday.

Walker Not Flying Flags At Half Staff

Dallas (UPI) — Resigned Maj. Gen. Edwin A. Walker confirmed Tuesday he is flying flags in front of his home at full staff despite the half-staff mourning period for President Kennedy. He declined to say why.

A month ago Walker flew the U.S. flag upside down, the international distress signal, because, he said, President Kennedy had described the country as being in "dire peril."

"My flags are always from full staff now," Walker said.

The three poles in front of Walker's fashionable home were bare in the rain Tuesday. He normally flies the U.S., Texas and Confederate flags.

"They will be back out at full staff when it stops raining," he said. He said the flags will be flown right-side up.

Chances Dim Outside Students Will Be Barred

Lincoln School Board members were told by their attorney Tuesday that they cannot bar students from outside the Lincoln district, except under very specific circumstances.

Willis Hecht, the board's attorney, noted that provisions of LB643, passed by the 1963 Legislature, make it unlawful to bar free high school tuition students from outside the district unless the tuition ($15 per week) is less than the cost of educating the student. The present weekly cost in the Lincoln district is $13.65.

A second factor which would allow Lincoln to bar non-resident students is if they come from an outside district which never has been served by the Lincoln system.

Members asked Schools Supt. Dr. Steven Watkins to seek information on the number of surrounding districts which have never been served, but all expressed belief that probably all Lancaster districts have in the past been served.

The survey into methods of barring non-resident students from Lincoln schools stemmed from the plea last month of Dean Pillard of Malcolm for such a move in order to aid school district reorganization plans within the county. Pillard explained that Lincoln's schools were now draining off potential high school students for any proposed consolidated district.

Even if action were taken now to bar future entry of students from other districts, Hecht told the board, the action could not take effect until the 1965-66 school year under the new law's provisions.

Basketball Asked In Grade Schools By Brownell PTA

Representatives from the Brownell School PTA made a bid before the Board of Education Tuesday to have basketball allowed in the elementary schools.

Spokesman for the group, John Knight, noted that a long-standing policy had barred indoor basketball facilities, but that older schools still contained courts and hoops.

He asked the board to change the policy, noting that other grade school PTA groups agreed with the request. He also noted that since some grade schools already had facilities, the policy was not being enforced.

Board members promised the group to review the basketball policy, but made no decision at the board meeting.

Board Favors A St. Paving, OKs Petition

Members of the Lincoln School Board gave a quick and unanimous OK to the signing of a petition for the paving of A from 70th to 84th.

The petition, signed by Wedgewood Manor, Inc., and Strauss Brothers, now will contain more than 51% of the adjacent property owners' signatures.

The school district is interested in the paving because of the present city-wide athletic field located on the unpaved portion of A, and because of plans for a new Lincoln East junior-senior high school adjacent to the athletic field, which is expected to be ready for bidding by late 1964.

Davey Man Convicted For Drunken Driving

Albin Stoneberg, 66, of Davey, was found guilty by a Lancaster District Court jury of third offense drunken driving.

Lancaster District Judge Herbert Ronin deferred sentencing pending a motion for a new trial.

An earlier trial of the case in October resulted in a hung jury.

Emerald Co-Op Zoning Request Given Approval

Lancaster County Commissioners Tuesday approved a change of zone from agricultural to industrial use for the Farmers Co-op Elevator Co. at Emerald.

E. F. Kosak of Emerald appeared to request that the area, located about one-fourth mile east of Emerald, be rezoned to enable the firm to erect a new building.

The City-County Planning Commission had recommended approval of the application.

The present weekly cost in the Lincoln district is $13.65.

A second factor which would allow Lincoln to bar non-resident students is if they come from an outside district which never has been served by the Lincoln system.

Members asked Schools Supt. Dr. Steven Watkins to seek information on the number of surrounding districts which have never been served, but all expressed belief that probably all Lancaster districts have in the past been served.

The survey into methods of barring non-resident students from Lincoln schools stemmed from the plea last month of Dean Pillard of Malcolm for such a move in order to aid school district reorganization plans within the county. Pillard explained that Lincoln's schools were now draining off potential high school students for any proposed consolidated district.

Even if action were taken now to bar future entry of students from other districts, Hecht told the board, the action could not take effect until the 1965-66 school year under the new law's provisions.

Basketball Asked In Grade Schools By Brownell PTA

Representatives from the Brownell School PTA made a bid before the Board of Education Tuesday to have basketball allowed in the elementary schools.

Spokesman for the group, John Knight, noted that a long-standing policy had barred indoor basketball facilities, but that older schools still contained courts and hoops.

He asked the board to change the policy, noting that other grade school PTA groups agreed with the request. He also noted that since some grade schools already had facilities, the policy was not being enforced.

Board members promised the group to review the basketball policy, but made no decision at the board meeting.

Board Favors A St. Paving, OKs Petition

Members of the Lincoln School Board gave a quick and unanimous OK to the signing of a petition for the paving of A from 70th to 84th.

The petition, signed by Wedgewood Manor, Inc., and Strauss Brothers, now will contain more than 51% of the adjacent property owners' signatures.

The school district is interested in the paving because of the present city-wide athletic field located on the unpaved portion of A, and because of plans for a new Lincoln East junior-senior high school adjacent to the athletic field, which is expected to be ready for bidding by late 1964.

Davey Man Convicted For Drunken Driving

Albin Stoneberg, 66, of Davey, was found guilty by a Lancaster District Court jury of third offense drunken driving.

Lancaster District Judge Herbert Ronin deferred sentencing pending a motion for a new trial.

An earlier trial of the case in October resulted in a hung jury.

Emerald Co-Op Zoning Request Given Approval

Lancaster County Commissioners Tuesday approved a change of zone from agricultural to industrial use for the Farmers Co-op Elevator Co. at Emerald.

E. F. Kosak of Emerald appeared to request that the area, located about one-fourth mile east of Emerald, be rezoned to enable the firm to erect a new building.

The City-County Planning Commission had recommended approval of the application.

Fairchild Proposes 'Master Plan' For Resources

By DON WALTON
Star Staff Writer

The executive secretary of the Nebraska Soil and Water Conservation Commission Tuesday called for a state-financed "master plan for resource development" in Nebraska.

Warren D. Fairchild suggested that the state should set a goal providing that studies be completed on every major river basin in Nebraska within 10 to 15 years.

Fairchild discussed his proposal in a paper delivered before the 134th meeting of the Missouri Basin Inter-Agency Committee.

The Soil and Water Conservation Commission is now coordinating surveys of three major river basins, the Elkhorn, the Big Blue and the Little Blue.

"I am firmly convinced in my own mind that it would be a wise expenditure of state funds if money would be available so that the state could give leadership in this field," Fairchild said.

Development of a master plan for resource development "would have a very definite and beneficial impact on the future economy and prosperity of our great state," he declared.

Fairchild suggested an original appropriation of $50,000 to $60,000 to provide a state agency with the staff necessary to undertake the task.

Meanwhile, State Game Commission Director Mel Steen warned that "those who enjoy and use the areas and facilities provided for outdoor recreation must contribute more financing in the future than they have in the past."

Citing fees paid for resident hunting and angling permits and the use fees paid by power boaters, Steen declared that "the revenue provided by outdoorsmen is ridiculously small."

If those who benefit refuse to underwrite new recreational facilities, Steen said, "no jet-age Santa Claus is going to do it for them.

Gov. Frank Morrison told participants from Missouri River Basin states that "an alert citizenry" is the best tool in conservation.

"If the grass roots were made aware of soil erosion in its early phases, we could save millions of dollars and make our money go a lot farther," the governor noted.

Salt-Wahoo Watershed District General Manager Hal Schroeder outlined progress in the Salt Creek Basin, then made a pitch for careful zoning in potential flood plains.

"We should not wait until a flood plain is filled with housing which may be severely damaged," he pointed out.

Allen L. Fisk of the U.S. Soil Conservation Service announced that perhaps six of the eight flood water retardation structures in the Gering Valley Watershed will be constructed or under contract by June 30, 1964.

FIRST MAN TO FLY FASTER THAN SOUND BAILS OUT OF JET PLANE

Edwards Air Force Base, Calif. (AP) — Col. Charles Yeager, first man to fly faster than sound, was forced to parachute from an experimental NF104 jet fighter Tuesday but landed without serious injury.

Yeager, commandant of the Aerospace Pilot School here, suffered face burns when the oxygen in his mask ignited. His left glove was smoking when rescuers reached him.

The rocket-assisted NF104, which Yeager was checking out prior to an attempt to set a new altitude record Thursday, was destroyed when it crashed near the California City turnoff on U.S. 6 east of Mojave.

Year May Be 1st In State Without Polio

This year may go down as the first polio-free year in Nebraska since the State Health Department began recording cases of the crippling virus in 1920.

The one case which the Health Department had listed for 1963 has been removed. Exhaustive tests have disclosed that a Cambridge woman, who died in a Lincoln hospital late this summer, did not have polio as was suspected by attending physicians. Tests showed another type of virus to be involved.

Dr. E. A. Rogers, state Health Director, said that if the year's polio-free record stands, "It will be due in great part to our mass immunizations with Salk and Sabin vaccines in past years throughout our communities by volunteers under medical leadership.

"Yet the lack of any cases too often lulls people into a false sense of security."

He urged the continued use of immunization vaccines, especially among children.

Gunfire Denied

Seoul, Korea (AP) — A U.N. Command spokesman, Col. George Creel, denied a report that U.S. and North Korean troops exchanged gunfire on the armistice front. Creel said the U.N. Command has no knowledge of any such incident.

New Runway At Municipal Airport Will Open On Dec. 23

By VIRGIL FALLOON
Star Staff Writer

Lincoln Municipal Airport's new 4,000-foot runway will open to commercial and general aviation traffic on December 23.

The Airport Authority authorized Tuesday the runway opening with the installation of temporary lighting.

Formal dedication of the new $4.2 million airport facility is planned for May 23, marking the sixth anniversary of the authority.

Completion of the Terminal Building's new passenger concourse and the Federal Aviation Agency-General Aviation Building is expected later this month.

In other action, the board instructed its attorney, Chauncey Barney, and executive director, Rolland Harr, to confer with the Lincoln Housing Authority regarding further leasing of the Huskerville Housing Area.

The housing authority's lease expires next June and Barney reported no reply has been received as to whether the lease will be terminated or extended.

The airport board leases the housing area to the housing authority, which has operated Huskerville.

If the lease is not renewed, the board has indicated it will close the housing area rather than operate it.

One authority member suggested the Air Force be contacted as to its plans or desires as a number of airmen occupy Huskerville housing.

Several years ago, a housing authority official indicated a considerable expenditure would be required in the near future, if the housing operation were continued, to rennovate the buildings.

The board also authorized the withholding of architect fees from Selmer Solheim until he performs on inspection and supervisory items covered by an agreement.

The authority board also:

—heard a report of wind damage to the passenger concourse' roof, large glass window in the Terminal Building and some roof damage on the FAA Building.

—deferred action on a proposed public relations program for additional information.

—authorized Harr to confer with the city regarding the installation of a large directory sign near the Municipal Airport entrance.

—was advised that several conferences with Frontier and United Air Lines were held on new space leases in the Terminal Building, but no agreement has been reached on rentals and landing fees. Present leases expire in December.

—was advised that Lincoln has moved a step closer to having a 24-hour U.S. weather station with approval of necessary funds by a Senate committee. Senate and Conference Committee approval is anticipated by Senators Hruska and Curtis.

NEW CHEVELLE!

BY CHEVROLET

The kind of go—6 or V8—you'd expect from one of Chevy's great highway performers. Come on down and drive it.

The kind of comfort you'd expect in a large interior. Come on down and sit in it.

The kind of fresh styling—inside and out—that makes it the year's smartest surprise. Come down and stare at it.

New Chevelle Malibu Sport Coupe

Now—Chevy spirit in a new kind of car!

We built this one to do a lot more than just stand around looking beautiful. Held its weight down in the 3,000-pound range. Then built four lusty engines for it—two sixes and two V8's—with output all the way up to 220 horses*!

And if that combination of modest weight and potent power gives you the idea that this is one frisky car indeed, you've got the right idea.

You've also got a roomy car with a generous amount of space for legs, hips, shoulders, hats and luggage. Yet its 115-inch wheelbase keeps it highly maneuverable in traffic and very easy to park.

With its Full Coil suspension, it's got a ride that reminds you of the Jet-smooth kind the way it muffles noise and cushions bumps.

And the fine hand of Body by Fisher craftsmen shows up beneath this one's suave good looks, too. Just listen to the solid thunk of a door closing or look at the neat seams and smooth metalwork. You'll see what we mean.

Sound good so far? There's more. Like the fact that Chevelle comes in three series with eleven models—convertibles, sport coupes, sedans, wagons, even Super Sport models with front bucket seats. Like the fact that (and see if this doesn't strike you as one of the nicest surprises of all) the new Chevelle comes at an easy-to-take price!

Like to hear more? The listening's wonderful at your Chevrolet dealer's—and so's the driving.

Probe Slated Of Columbus Telephone Co.

The State Railway Commission announced Tuesday it will undertake an investigation of the General Telephone Co. of Columbus.

The commission order was prompted by the filing of 18 complaints with the commission since Jan. 1, 1963, involving adequacy of service at 14 exchanges operated by General Telephone. The complaints, Commissioner Richard H. Larson said, concerned not only the service rendered existing customers but the inability of non-subscribers to obtain telephone service.

The commission, Larson said, will probe three areas:

—Whether in fact, the telephone service, both local and long distance, rendered by General Telephone is adequate to meet the requirements of the public convenience and necessity.

—Whether General Telephone is fit, willing and able to meet the requirements of the public convenience and necessity and to render adequate modern day commercial service.

—And whether General Telephone rates charged at its several exchanges are commensurate with the quality of service rendered.

Rankin Named General Counsel For Probe

Washington (UPI) — J. Lee Rankin, a former U.S. solicitor general, Tuesday was named general counsel for the blue-ribbon commission investigating the assassination of President Kennedy.

The announcement was made by Chief Justice Earl Warren, chairman of the seven-man group appointed by President Johnson to thoroughly probe all aspects of the shooting of Kennedy. It then will make a formal public report.

'Distinguished'

Warren's announcement, describing Rankin as a "distinguished lawyer," said that he is "now in the performance of his duties."

The Warren Commission held two meetings last week and Monday night was given a copy of the FBI report on the assassination. The report, according to Warren's announcement, consists "of five volumes of summary and exhibits."

"No further announcement will be made concerning the report until the commission has had an opportunity to review it," Tuesday's announcement said. "A preliminary statement will thereafter be made public."

The report is said to show conclusively that Lee Harvey Oswald was Kennedy's assassin, and that both he and Jack Ruby were acting as individuals and not as part of any conspiracy.

Evidence

The report arrived at the conclusion of Oswald's guilt from such evidence as bits of brown fabric from his shirt found on the 6.5 millimeter Mannlicher-Carcano bolt-action rifle used in the assisination of Kennedy. It also showed that Oswald's fingerprints were found on wrapping paper in which the gun had been carried into the Texas School Book Depository Building.

At the same time, it was learned that the FBI knew of Oswald's presence in the Dallas area although agents had not actually questioned him.

Agents made two calls at the Irving, Tex., house where Oswald's wife and child were living but Oswald apparently was not at the house either time.

Router Unknown

The owner of the house told the FBI that Oswald was working at the book warehouse but no one knew at that time that Kennedy's route would take him past the building.

There was nothing in Owald's background at the time that warranted placing him on a "suspect list," a source said. Therefore his presence in Dallas did not elicit unusual attention.

Warren's announcement said it had not been determined when the commission's next meeting would be held.

House OKs Powers

Congress Tuesday voted to give the group the power to subpoena witnesses and evidence. A bill to do so was approved by voice vote in the House and sent to the President. The Senate acted Monday.

The commission requested the power.

The bill also affords immunity to any witness who fears to testify before the group because of possible self-incrimination.

Witnesses would not be able to cite the Fifth Amendment as a reason for refusing to testify, but at the same time they would be guaranteed against future prosecution for what they told the group unless they committed perjury.

Persons failing to comply with a subpoena eventually could be held in contempt of court by a federal judge.

May Step Up Program

Ottawa (AP) — Canada is thinking of stepping up a cultural exchange program with the Soviet Union. Foreign Secretary Paul Martin told the House of Commons the government attaches great importance to such exchanges.

The bidding:

West	North	East	South
1 ♥	Pass	Pass	2 ♠
Pass	3 ♠	Pass	4 ♠

Opening lead — king of hearts.

The most interesting hands to play are those where the contract seems headed for defeat but where declarer, by skillful play, can salvage a vital trick and thus make the contract.

Take this hand, for example, where West cashes two hearts and shifts to the deuce of clubs. It is not easy to see how South can make four spades, even if all 52 cards are seen. He apparently has to lose a diamond and a club to go down one.

But, if he plays correctly, declarer can accomplish his mission and the opponents can do nothing to stop it.

South takes the club with the ace, plays a spade to the ace, and ruffs a heart. He then draws three rounds of trumps, at which point this is the position:

North

West
♦ K J
♣ 10 8

East
♦ 9 7 6
♣ Q 7

South
♠ 7
♦ A Q
♣ 9 4

Declarer now plays his last trump. West is forced to discard a club, while dummy and East each discard a diamond. Having compelled West to part with a club, South now capitalizes on the situation by leading a club to the king and returning the ten of hearts and discarding the nine of clubs on it.

West wins with the jack but must then lead a diamond from the K-J into South's A-Q. The result of this line of play is that South saves a diamond trick and makes the contract.

The recommended line of play is clearly correct — even if the East-West cards are not seen — because it is known from the bidding that West must have the king of diamonds and that a diamond finesse would fail, if attempted. Continuous trump leads render him helpless.

WHY GROW OLD?

Josephine Lowman

For a time the fashion news seemed to indicate that skirts would be longer this fall. However, for general use, this has not happened. There are the feminine, glamorous, longer cocktail hour and "at home" beauties. Generally speaking, we will go about with short skirts, which means that a woman's legs are still "on stage."

With no thought to current style, the most flattering skirt length to the leg and to the silhouette, is usually mid-calf; but, who wants to forget fashion? OUR eyes, as well as the eyes of others, become accustomed to what they see. No woman wants to stroll down the avenue with ankle length skirts when all other women have short skirts. This is being too much of a rugged individualist. She wouldn't look like an individualist, but like a "character," and rugged too!

The most usual defects in leg contour are, the bulging calf or the leg which is too straight up and down. Then of course there is the ankle, which is difficult to do much about, although some improvement can be made with exercise.

Then there is lack of muscle tone, or flabbiness, which will surely become a problem sooner or later unless you exercise. The following two exercises are beneficial to general leg contour and to flabbiness.

1. Stand erect. Place your hands on your hips. Step forward with your left foot. Lift your heels from the floor as you bend your knees halfway down. Straighten your knees and step forward with your right foot. Again bend your knees halfway down. Continue, keeping your heels off of the floor after the first bending.

2. Assume the same starting position. Bend the knees halfway down and bounce up and down, straightening the knees and bouncing back to the half-knee bend position. If you have trouble keeping your balance, place one hand on the wall.

Even Now It's Christmas Everywhere In Lincoln

We know the calendar says that Christmas is two weeks from today. For all practical purposes, however, it's Christmas everywhere around town right at this moment.

Christmas guests will be arriving before too many days have elapsed, and there is a variety of Christmas party planning going on at the moment.

The Governor's Mansion will be festive this holiday season since Gov. and Mrs. Frank Morrison will have all members of their family at home.

The first to arrive will be Gov. and Mrs. Morrison's daughter, Miss Jean Morrison who will come from Hinsdale, Ill. (where she is teaching) on Dec. 21. Two days later, on Dec. 23, Gov. and Mrs. Morrison's son and daughter-in-law, Mr. and Mrs. Jon Morrison and their small son, Clayton, will be arriving from Beaumont, Tex. Accompanying their son-in-law and daughter to Lincoln will be Mrs. Morrison's parents, Mr. and Mrs. A. F. Jones, also of Beaumont.

Christmas Eve will find Mr. and Mrs. Frank Morrison, Jr., and their son, John joining the family group. Mr. and Mrs. Morrison and their son are coming from Ogallala.

• • •

The Governor's Mansion will be pretty busy between now and Christmas, judging from what we hear. Next Saturday evening Gov. and Mrs. Morrison will entertain the capitol custodians and their wives at a turkey dinner and Christmas party. Dinner places will be arranged for 95.

Then, on Thursday, Dec. 19, all of the members of the Cornhusker football squad, the wives of the married members — the members of the coaching staff and their wives, plus the trainers and their wives, will be dinner guests at the Mansion. The guest list will number 85.

• • •

Christmas guests who will be arriving from Claresholm, Alberta, Can., will be Mr. and Mrs. Norman Lock and their children. Mr. and Mrs. Lock and their family will be the guests of Mr. Lock's parents, Mr. and Mrs. A. H. Lock, and also will visit his brother-in-law and sister, Mr. and Mrs. Richard W. Hamilton.

From the east coast — Wellesley, Mass. — to be specific, will come Dr. and Mrs. Harry Senger and their young son, Jeffrey, who will be the holiday guests of Mrs. Senger's parents, Mr. and Mrs. William I. Aitken, and her brother-in-law and sister, Mr. and Mrs. J. Taylor Greer and their family.

• • •

We have more news of the away-at-school set this morning — We have another Smith College student to bring home — She is Miss Greta Woodward who will be arriving on Dec. 21, to be the holiday guest of her parents, Mr. and Mrs. W. W. Woodward. Miss Woodward is a sophomore at Smith.

• • •

A pre-holiday guest will be Miss Anne Elliott, a student at Carleton College, Northfield, Minn., who arrives tomorrow for a visit with her aunt, Mrs. C. K. Elliott and her son, Stuart Elliott. Miss Elliott will spend a week in Lincoln and then will go to Great Falls, Mont., where she will spend the holidays with her parents, Mr. and Mrs. Harold C. Elliott.

Two coeds from the University of Michigan will be arriving home on Dec. 21— They are Miss Gretchen Groth, a senior at Michigan — and her freshman sister, Miss Gaynelle Groth — who will spend the holidays with their parents, Mr. and Mrs. Wendell Groth.

• • •

Christmas Eve will be family night at the home of Mr. and Mrs. James Critchfield, so we hear. Mr. and Mrs. Critchfield will entertain members of the family at dinner at their home.

The family group will include Mrs. Critchfield's brother-in-law and sister, Mr. and Mrs. Roger Newman — and their children, Paige, Lane, Linda, Roger, Mary, Bradley and Lisa, of Omaha; her brother and sister-in-law, Dr. and Mrs. Michael Edwards and their son, Michael, III, and her parents, Mr. and Mrs. Michael Edwards.

• • •

There are some homecomers to mention this morning, too — Mr. and Mrs. C. C. Frazier returned on Tuesday from a 10-day business and pleasure stay in Phoenix and Tucson, Ariz.

• • •

And the morning is not without its potential travelers. Mr. and Mrs. Alfred Adams will be leaving later this month for Phoenix, Ariz., where they will spend Christmas with Mrs. Adams' father, James G. Kunz. From Phoenix the travelers will go to Miami to attend the Orange Bowl game — and after that on to Puerto Rico and a visit with their son-in-law and daughter, Mr. and Mrs. George W. Haecker, Jr., on St. Thomas Island.

Anniversary Of Chautauqua

Mrs. Albert Johnston entertained the members of the Hellenic Chautaqua Circle at her home on Tuesday evening for the group's annual Christmas party. But this year's party marked a memorable occasion for the group—its 50th anniversary—for it was in December, 1913, that the circle met for the first time

Eespecially honored at the buffet supper and program were former members of the circle who were guests for the evening

Dear Abby

Might Be Better If Both Left

Abigail Van Buren

DEAR ABBY: My mother-in-law is interfering with my marriage. We have lived with her ever since we've been married and she is the type who likes to run everything herself because nobody can do anything as well. I have never made a meal, and I am not allowed to clean or iron. If I do anything, she does it over. My husband thinks I should consider myself lucky to have free room and board. When his mother criticizes me, my husband never says a word to defend me. Should I leave him now before we have any children?

UNHAPPY

DEAR UNHAPPY: If it's a question only of whether you should leave him BEFORE you have children, or AFTER you have had them, I'd say leave him now. Better yet, why don't you BOTH leave his mother? The room and board is far from free—it's costing you your happiness.

• • •

DEAR ABBY: I have a problem that bothers me immensely. We have a new minister whose language is atrocious. I can hardly sit through his sermons any more. He says, "He done," "had went" and "they is." Abby, don't you think that after four years in Bible college he should be able to do better than that? My ten-year-old son notices these mistakes and mentions them to me. Is there a remedy?

SMALL TOWN

DEAR SMALL: I don't know how "small" your town is, but if the people were bigger they could raise enough money to import a more literate minister.

DEAR ABBY: I have recently moved to a city where I have no friends and know very few people. I would like to meet a handicapped girl between 20 and 30. All the handicapped girls I have ever met have such a sweet quality about them. Perhaps it is because they have suffered and consequently have more feeling and depth. This may seem strange to you, but I have my reason. Where can I meet such a girl?

S"

DEAR "S": The local Society for Crippled Children and Adults (also known as the Easter Seal Society) is listed in your telephone directory. Ask them if you may be included in their next social get-together when their local club meets. I am sure they will welcome you.

* * *

Christmas guests who will be arriving from Claresholm, Alberta, Can., will be Mr. and Mrs. Norman Lock and their children. Mr. and Mrs. Lock and their family will be the guests of Mr. Lock's parents, Mr. and Mrs. A. H. Lock, and also will visit his brother-in-law and sister, Mr. and Mrs. Richard W. Hamilton.

From the east coast — Wellesley, Mass. — to be specific, will come Dr. and Mrs. Harry Senger and their young son, Jeffrey, who will be the holiday guests of Mrs. Senger's parents, Mr. and Mrs. William I. Aitken, and her brother-in-law and sister, Mr. and Mrs. J. Taylor Greer and their family.

* * *

We have more news of the away-at-school set this morning — We have another Smith College student to bring home — She is Miss Greta Woodward who will be arriving on Dec. 21, to be the holiday guest of her parents, Mr. and Mrs. W. W. Woodward. Miss Woodward is a sophomore at Smith.

* * *

A pre-holiday guest will be Miss Anne Elliott, a student at Carleton College, Northfield, Minn., who arrives tomorrow for a visit with her aunt, Mrs. C. K. Elliott and her son, Stuart Elliott. Miss Elliott will spend a week in Lincoln and then will go to Great Falls, Mont., where she will spend the holidays with her parents, Mr. and Mrs. Harold C. Elliott.

Two coeds from the University of Michigan will be arriving home on Dec. 21— They are Miss Gretchen Groth, a senior at Michigan — and her freshman sister, Miss Gaynelle Groth — who will spend the holidays with their parents, Mr. and Mrs. Wendell Groth.

* * *

Christmas Eve will be family night at the home of Mr. and Mrs. James Critchfield, so we hear. Mr. and Mrs. Critchfield will entertain members of the family at dinner at their home.

The family group will include Mrs. Critchfield's brother-in-law and sister, Mr. and Mrs. Roger Newman — and their children, Paige, Lane, Linda, Roger, Mary, Bradley and Lisa, of Omaha; her brother and sister-in-law, Dr. and Mrs. Michael Edwards and their son, Michael, III, and her parents, Mr. and Mrs. Michael Edwards.

* * *

There are some homecomers to mention this morning, too — Mr. and Mrs. C. C. Frazier returned on Tuesday from a 10-day business and pleasure stay in Phoenix and Tucson, Ariz.

* * *

And the morning is not without its potential travelers. Mr. and Mrs. Alfred Adams will be leaving later this month for Phoenix, Ariz., where they will spend Christmas with Mrs. Adams' father, James G. Kunz. From Phoenix the travelers will go to Miami to attend the Orange Bowl game — and after that on to Puerto Rico and a visit with their son-in-law and daughter, Mr. and Mrs. George W. Haecker, Jr., on St. Thomas Island.

Anniversary Of Chautauqua

Mrs. Albert Johnston entertained the members of the Hellenic Chautauqua Circle at her home on Tuesday evening for the group's annual Christmas party. But this year's party marked a memorable occasion for the group—its 50th anniversary—for it was in December, 1913, that the circle met for the first time.

Eespecially honored at the buffet supper and program were former members of the circle who were guests for the evening.

Dear Abby

Might Be Better If Both Left

Abigail Van Buren

DEAR ABBY: My mother-in-law is interfering with my marriage. We have lived with her ever since we've been married and she is the type who likes to run everything herself because nobody can do anything as well. I have never made a meal, and I am not allowed to clean or iron. If I do anything, she does it over. My husband thinks I should consider myself lucky to have free room and board. When his mother criticizes me, my husband never says a word to defend me. Should I leave him now before we have any children?

UNHAPPY

DEAR UNHAPPY: If it's a question only of whether you should leave him BEFORE you have children, or AFTER you have had them, I'd say leave him now. Better yet, why don't you BOTH leave his mother? The room and board is far from free—it's costing you your happiness.

☆ ☆ ☆

DEAR ABBY: I have a problem that bothers me immensely. We have a new minister whose language is atrocious. I can hardly sit through his sermons any more. He says, "He done," "had went" and "they is." Abby, don't you think that after four years in Bible college he should be able to do better than that? My ten-year-old son notices these mistakes and mentions them to me. Is there a remedy?

SMALL TOWN

DEAR SMALL: I don't know how "small" your town is, but if the people were bigger they could raise enough money to import a more literate minister.

DEAR ABBY: I have recently moved to a city where I have no friends and know very few people. I would like to meet a handicapped girl between 20 and 30. All the handicapped girls I have ever met have such a sweet quality about them. Perhaps it is because they have suffered and consequently have more feeling and depth. This may seem strange to you, but I have my reasons. Where can I meet such a girl?

"S"

DEAR "S": The local Society for Crippled Children and Adults (also known as the Easter Seal Society) is listed in your telephone directory. Ask them if you may be included in their next social get-together when their local club meets. I am sure they will welcome you.

FUN NEWS IN SUBURBIA

In farewell courtesy to one of their neighbors, Skyline Terrace residents gathered at the home of Mrs. Milton Ward yesterday to bid fond goodbyes to Mrs. Ronald Frank and her daughter, Monica, who will be leaving today for Monheim, Germany.

Mrs. Frank and her daughter will be visiting with Mrs. Frank's parents, Mr. and Mrs. Robert Vroup, for five months before returning to Lincoln.

NORTHEAST HEIGHTS

The first snowfall of the year affects everyone in a different way. Mothers instinctively check all snow boots and issue a decree that no one is to leave the house without them.

Children, however, begin their plans to go sledding and how many snowflakes equal one snowman. And to complete the picture, fathers busy themselves uncovering the snow shovels from beneath the garden hose and grass seed.

But as far as social activities go, the coming holiday, creates enough excitement — so the weather is something to ignore.

Thanksgiving Day guests at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Ray Frohardt included their son-in-law and daughter, Mr. and Mrs. Gary Baebenroth of Broomfield, Colo., and their son and daughter-in-law, Mr. and Mrs. Gordon Frohardt and their children, Kathy and David of Lafayette, Ind.

Hostess for coffee this Wednesday morning is Mrs. Henry Willemsen, whose guests are all neighborhood wives of Lincoln school faculty members.

Enjoying the informal morning hours will be Mrs. Jack Ernst, Mrs. Richard Hall, Mrs. Melvin Berka, Mrs. Irvin Deeds, Mrs. Barry Moore, Mrs. Adam Mueller, Mrs. Harold Slaight, Mrs. Art Bauers, and Mrs. James Schlegelmilch.

Celebrating their 28th wedding anniversary on Sunday were Mr. and Mrs. George Lebsack, Jr.

They were the honored guests of their son-in-law and daughter, Mr. and Mrs. Harland Hoy of Waverly, who entertained at dinner at their home.

Other guests included their son-in-laws and daughters, Mr. and Mrs. Kaye Spence, and Mr. and Mrs. Del Reid.

Mr. and Mrs. Loren Wilson will be one of four couples for a holiday progressive smorgasbord Saturday night. Mr. and Mrs. Wilson will serve the dessert for Mr. and Mrs. Ed Pearce, Mr. and Mrs. Lowell Hoyt, and Mr. and Mrs. Gerald Schleich.

The Northeast Friendship Club will be meeting Dec. 18 at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Dale Ankrom for their Christmas party.

The study group's members include Mrs. Richard Gettamy, Mrs. John Herstein, Mrs. Dale Bird, Mrs. Charles Ebert, Mrs. Lee Harr, Mrs. Fritz Stoner, Mrs. Lee Kruse, and special guest for the party will be Mrs. James Shadley.

Mr. and Mrs. Alfred Steffen and daughter, Shirley, will go to Grand Island on Sunday for the wedding of Mrs. Steffen's niece, Mrs. Joyce Steffen to Charles Roger Nookes.

Mr. and Mrs. LeRoy Schlegel will be host and hostess at a baby shower on Saturday evening honoring Mr. and Mrs. Roger Straus, whose son, Mark Anthony, was born Nov. 2.

While the women enjoy an informal visit, the men will play cards. Guests for the shower include Mr. and Mrs. Harland Sims, Mr. and Mrs. David Sims, Mr. and Mrs. John Kuenning, Mr. and Mrs. Clarence Kuenning, Mr. and Mrs. Clarence Kuenning, Jr., Mr. and Mrs. Harold Kuenning, Mr. and Mrs. Ralph Kuenning, Mr. and Mrs. Martin Gravenholt, Mr. and Mrs. Maynard Kuenning, all of Lincoln; Mr. and Mrs. Arnold Bamme, Mr. and Mrs. Wesley Bamme, and Mr. and Mrs. William Munschreck, of Cook; and Mr. and Mrs. Ronald Kuenning of Omaha.

SUNNYSIDE ACRES

We have news of a birthday celebrated in Sunnyside Acres recently. Miss Mary Kay Lally, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Frederick Lally, observed her third anniversary Nov. 27. Her guests for games and birthday cake and ice cream were Joni Williams, Michael Bell, Stewart Stiverson, and her sister, Lisa.

The gay atmosphere didn't last too long for Mary Kay however. A week ago she spent a few days in the hospital to have her tonsils removed, which was an unwelcome birthday present, indeed.

Square Dance

Planning a dance for Saturday evening are the members of the Hi-Flyers Square Dance Club who will meet at the University Place Firebarn. Dancing will begin at 9 o'clock.

Annual Luncheon

Members of the board of Sheridan PTA will entertain the school's faculty at a 12:30 o'clock luncheon, Saturday, at the University Club.

Mr. and Mrs. John McBride, co-presidents of the PTA, are in charge of arrangements for the annual Christmas luncheon, which has become a tradition for the PTA.

Carol Concert

District III Blue Birds, Camp Fire Girls and Horizon Club members will join for a carol-singing concert on Friday evening at the Gateway mall. The program will be presented from 7 o'clock to 8:30 o'clock.

Toastmistress Club Program

The members of the Lincoln Toastmistress Club met for their annual Christmas dinner and program at the Capital Hotel.

Mrs. Lorraine Christensen presided and introduced a new member, Mrs. Jean Coil. The program included a Christmas play, read by Miss Cora Mae Briggs, and talks by Mrs. Robert Meyerhoff, "At Your Service"; Mrs. Frank O'Connell, "Glimpses Into the Unknown"; and Mrs. Robert Herman, "Shout The Glad Tidings." Mrs. Charles Chace was toastmistress.

On Dec. 18 the club members will be guests of the Lincoln Toastmasters Club for a dinner and program.

POSTCARD by Stan Delaplane

One of the great decisions in preparing for 1964 has been made: The streets of Tokyo are now named for the first time in history.

The maps are beautiful — Japanese printing is some of the finest in the world.

We now have streets called Nihon-dori, Basamichi and Sakura-da-dori avenue.

This is for the benefit of the Westerner. The Japanese are justly proud of it.

As for its value — "You could tell these names to taxi drivers all day long. They couldn't find what you were looking for with a motorcycle escort leading the way."

☆ ☆ ☆

That is the consensus of the American residents here. No doubt true. For the Occupation named streets Tenth avenue; Avenue A: Z avenue.

Wasn't a taxi driver in town knew when he was on Tenth avenue—I tried asking them many times. "Now on Tenth avenue, ne?"

"Ah, so. Now in Akasaka district."

That was what they knew. Tenth avenue (on which I rode every day) made no more sense than if you gave them airline mileage to the moon.

☆ ☆ ☆

Tokyo streets were never named from the time the Shoguns came here to build a city called Edo.

The way to get around town is by landmarks.

As for street numbers, the houses are numbered in the order in which they were built. First house is No. 1. Second house a mile away is No. 2.

Say there are 500 houses in the district and No. 1 burns down. When they rebuild it—same spot, same architecture—it is No. 501.

☆ ☆ ☆

Tearing down and rebuilding is being done with that great gusto that Japanese put into projects aimed at making Japan less Oriental, more Western.

Down come the frame houses (with the stone lantern gardens and the graceful plum trees). Up go the steel-and glass skyscrapers (with hall ashtrays still built like miniature stone gardens).

☆ ☆ ☆

The world's largest city, now more than 10 million, blooms at night with a great burst of neon.

But for all its day (and night) construction, there is a time - - -.

When the sun sinks across the rooftops. The little alleyways that are Tokyo brighten with lights and evening chatter. (The hot chestnut man is on the street with his lantern-lit cart.)

The bar girls and the geisha on her clackety-clack wooden geta are on their way to work.

The taxis discharge the glittering night club hostesses at the world's most elegant pleasure palaces.

There is a smell of chicken in soyu sauce. Steaming meats and rice.

And somehow there is nothing like it in all the world.

Nobel Prizes Presented By King Olav And King Gustaf

Oslo (UPI) — American scientist Dr. Linus Pauling received the $50,000 Nobel Peace Prize for 1962 Tuesday in a ceremony before King Olav V. The 1963 Peace Prize was divided between two International Red Cross organizations.

The peace award was the second Nobel Prize for Pauling. He won the 1954 prize for chemistry.

In Stockholm, the Nobel awards for literature, medicine, physics and chemistry were presented to nine winners from six nations by Swedish King Gustaf VI Adolf. The four awards of $51,458 each were divided among the winners.

First Since Curie

One of the prize winners in Stockholm was California Prof Maria Goeppert-Mayer who shared the physics prize with Prof. Hans Jensen of Germany's Heidelberg University and Prof. Eugene P. Wigner of Princeton University. She was the first woman to receive a science prize since Mme. Marie Curie won the chemistry prize in 1911.

In the Stockholm ceremoness, Prof. Arne Tiselius, winner of the 1948 chemistry prize, paid a brief tribute to the late President Kennedy. He concluded by quoting from a Kennedy speech to the National Academy of Science in Washington:

"My own faith is plain and clear. I believe that the power of science has offered mankind a new opprotunity not only for intellectual growth but for moral discipline—not only for the acquisition of knowledge but for the strengthening of nerve and will."

Before handing the diploma and the $50,000 check to Pauling, Gunnar Jahn, chairman of the Peace Prize Committee, paid tribute to Pauling's fight against nuclear weapons.

Jahn said Pauling has "Manifested the ethical responsibility which science in his opinion bears for the fate of mankind today and in the future."

Even a Little

"Should he, through his tireless efforts, have contributed if only a little to restore to science its ideals, then Linus Pauling's campaign will in itself have been of such value that we living today cannot even appreciate the full extent of the debt we owe him," Jahn said.

"No one would suggest that the nuclear test ban in itself is the work of Linus Pauling. But does anyone believe that this treaty would have been reached now if there had been no responsible scientist who tirelessly, unflinchingly, year in, year out, had impressed on the authorities and on the general public the real menace of nuclear tests."

C. J. Hambro, former president of the Norwegian national assembly, then paid tribute to the work of the two 1963 Peace Prize winners, the International Red Cross Committee and the League of Red Cross Societies.

Never Tells Why

The Nobel Peace Prize Committee, by tradition, never discloses why it picked the winners. But Pauling apparently received the reward for his campaign against nuclear arms.

The announcement that Pauling had won the Peace Prize was made earlier this year. No Peace Prize was given during 1962 and that award was held over until this year.

In the Stockholm ceremonies, the recipients in addition to Mrs. Goeppert-Mayer, Jensen and Wigner were: literature, Greek poet and diplomat Giorgos Seferis; medicine, Australian Prof. Sir John D. Eccles and British Prof. Andrew F. Huxley and Alan L. Hodgin; and chemistry, Italian Prof. Giulio Natta and German scientist Karl Ziegler.

Giants Respect Foe, But Welcome Showdown

New York (AP) — "We have lots of months to rest after Sunday if we don't do the job. Everybody but Alex Webster will be ready to play."

Allie Sherman summed up the physical condition of his New York Giants in so many words. And don't be surprised if Webster, the ailing fullback who is a master at the screen pass, gets in there, too, in the winner-take-all finale with Pittsburgh. The winner will be Eastern Division champion of the National Football League.

Webster, bothered by a bad back, hasn't played in recent games.

"I'm fine," he told writers in the clubhouse. "I'll be ready for Pittsburgh."

Webster will be watched carefully this week during practice to see if he can be counted upon to handle a heavy load of the ground game. Without their No. 1 bullback, the Giants lack a sound rushing game. Webster is the big threat when Y. A. Tittle finds no long receiver open and shifts to the screen pass.

"Pittsburgh is a good team," said Sherman. "They have a balanced offense. They can run and they can pass effectively. Their defense is well-knit. Obviously this will be the biggest game in the history of the Pittsburgh Steelers. We've been in it before."

The Giant players appear to welcome a showdown with the team that beat them 31-0 in September.

"They have fine balance," said Sam Huff, the Giants' middle linebacker. "John Henry Johnson is a good runner and their offensive line is tough. I think one of their most underrated players is Preston Carpenter, the tight end. He is a real football player, something like our Joe Walton.

"Playing Pittsburgh is like playing Green Bay. They like to control the ball. In this game it will be important to score first, not that we will be dead if we don't because we have a pretty good punch. It could be a tight, low scoring game.

"If they beat us twice they deserve to win it. Some clubs are better on the road but the Steelers are a strong hometown club."

. . . FOR TWO FARM HANDS

Chicago (AP)—Nellie Fox, long-time, Chicago White Sox second baseman, was traded to the Houston Colts for two farm hands Tuesday.

Technically, the peppery Fox—who will be 36 on Christmas Day and reportedly drew a $42,500 salary last season—was sold to Houston. The White Sox, in turn, purchased pitcher Jim Golden and outfielder Dan Murphy, $100,000 Chicago Cub Bonus baby, from Houston's Oklahoma City farm club.

"Actually, we may be doing Fox a great favor," said General Manager Ed Short. "He may play two or three more regular seasons for Paul Richards (Houston general manager), who really wanted him to stabilize the young Colt infield."

Short hinted Fox might have been dislodged as a Chicago regular next spring.

"In effect, this was a trade of Fox for Golden and Murphy," said Short. "What money was involved balanced off."

Fox Out Hunting

The interleague deal was swung with Short unable to inform Fox, deer hunting in the mountains near his Chambersburg, Pa., home. Recent rumors had Fox going to Indianapolis as manager, but the post went to Les Moss and Short said he never had discussed the job with Fox.

"I broke the news to Nellie's wife, Joanne," said Short.

Mrs. Fox told reporters "I'm happy he's going back with Paul Richards."

Richards managed the White Sox from 1951 through part of 1954, taking over the club one year after Fox was traded to Chicago by the Philadelphia A's for catcher Joe Tipton.

14 All-Star Games

Fox has a lifetime average of .289 for 15 big league seasons and hit .300 or higher six times, but batted only .260 this past season. He was the American League's Most Valuable Player in 1959, when the White Sox won the pennant, and played in 14 All-Star Games.

Short said that either Don Buford or Al Weis was tabbed for Fox' job, even perhaps by next season.

FOX

"If it came to pass that either — and we count heavily on Buford — indicated the best interests of the club would be served by putting the younger, faster and more agile man at second base at once, we would have a problem," said Short.

Play Every Day

"Fox is the type of competitor who wants to play every inning of every game, and give it all he has. If he were a part-time player, he could hardly command the kind of salary he has rated as a regular. Obviously, he wouldn't like that and I would hate to ask him to consider it."

Departure of Fox, who played for the Lincoln Chiefs in 1948, leaves only center fielder Jim Landis from the 1959 White Sox pennant-winning regulars.

Right-hander Golden, 27, had a 9-11 record at Oklahoma City last season after spending all of 1962 with Houston.

Murphy, traded by the Cubs to Houston last March, batted .234 with San Antonio and .268 with Oklahoma City last season. He was assigned to Indianapolis of the Pacific Coast League but may get a spring trial with the White Sox.

Top Two Collide In Bowl

New York (AP) — The Texas Longhorns are the 1963 national college football champions, but they must prove it again on New Year's Day.

That's the day they play second-ranked Navy in the Cotton Bowl at Dallas, and the Midshipmen, with the legendary Roger Staubach, contend they need some convincing.

This is the second straight year that the country's No. 1 and No. 2 teams have clashed in a bowl game. Last year, Southern California, top-ranked, won a 42-37 thriller from second-ranked Wisconsin in the Rose Bowl.

Texas, the only major team to complete the season without a defeat or tie, was the overwhelming pick of a special panel of sports writers and broadcasters in the final Associated Press poll.

The Longhorns, who swept past 10 opponents, received 34 first place votes and 460 points compared with 10 firsts and 418 points for Navy. Pittsburgh, which finished with a 9-1 record and empty-handed as far as bowls are concerned, got the other five top votes but fell behind Illinois in the final ratings.

Illinois, the Big Ten champ headed for a meeting with Washington in the Bose Bowl, received 361 points for third place to 340 for Pitt. Points are awarded on a 10-9-8-7-6-5-4-3-2-1 basis.

Completing the Top Ten are: 5, Auburn; 6, Nebraska; 7, Mississippi; 8, Alabama; 9, Michigan State; 10, Oklahoma.

Auburn and Nebraska are rivals in the Orange Bowl at Miami. Mississippi and Alabama clash in the Sugar Bowl at New Orleans. Alabama has a nationally televised game scheduled with Miami, Fla., Saturday.

The defending national champion, Southern Cal, failed to place in the Top Ten.

The Cotton Bowl game will present a test of two different styles of football.

Darrell Royal, the Texas coach, operates on the close-to-the-vest theory that it's best to keep from losing a game before you start trying to win it. Navy, with All-America Staubach at quarterback, is an explosive, quick-hitting team which tries to keep so busy attacking that there is no need for defense.

The Top Ten football teams with first-place votes in parentheses:

	W	L	T	Pts.
1. Texas (34)	10	0	0	460
2. Navy (10)	9	1	0	418

Miami Wants Devaney, But Needs $25,000 Offer

. . . REPORTS THE MIAMI HERALD

By HAL BROWN
Star Sports Editor

Nebraska Football coach Bob Devaney will be offered the University of Miami football coaching post if enough money can be raised, the Miami Herald said in its Wednesday morning edition.

In a story by-lined by sports editor Jimmy Burns, the Herald said it had learned that the university would have to come up with a salary and extras totaling $25,000 to interest Devaney. The Herald said if this amount could be raised, Devaney would be approached.

The Herald quoted Miami President Dr. Henry King Stanford as saying, "We are definitely interested in Devaney, but we are also interested in Bo Peterson of Florida State and others."

The Miami position was left vacant when Andy Gustafson stepped up to the athletic director's post this winter.

Rumors regarding Devaney and Miami cropped up ten days ago when Devaney met with Dr. Stanford in the Florida city.

Devaney said at the time that the meeting with Dr. Stanford was merely to make arrangements for Nebraska's use of Miami's facilities in its training for the Orange Bowl.

Devaney said there was no discussion of the Miami coaching vacancy, and he was not looking for a job, and that it would take an outstanding offer to interest him

Devaney has compiled an 18-3 record since coming to Nebraska two years ago from Wyoming.

The Herald's Wednesday morning story would seem to confirm Devaney's statements that he had not yet been contacted about the Miami job.

CHANGES MADE FOR SMOKER

Three substitutions have been made on Friday night's Golden Gloves smoker card scheduled for the State Fairgrounds 4-H Arena.

The substitutions were forced mainly by a lack of conditioning on the part of the withdrawn fighters.

Jerry Bremes will replace Jim Blake in the heavyweight battle with Don Anderson of Offutt Air Force Base. Bremes is a battler in much the same fashion as Blake and was awarded the sportsmanship trophy a year ago in the Southeast District Golden Gloves Tournament.

Blake, last year's light-heavyweight king in the Southeast District, has now been withdrawn from two smokers in the past week. He had been scheduled to fight at Omaha last Friday night.

The other substitutions find Jim Blankenship replacing Johnny Hernandez against Eddie Phillips and Ralph Preston subbing for Jesse Ariza against Jerry Sipp.

Phillips was last year's 112-pound champion, fighting out of Larry Emery stable, but this year is being tutored by Gene Acosta.

Raiders Fall To Kansas

Lawrence, Kan. (AP) — Kansas put on a spectacular shooting exhibition the first six minutes for a 20-5 lead, then needed some brilliant clutch shooting by George Unseld to defeat Texas Tech, 73-67, in basketball Tuesday.

The Texans, 1-4 for the year, overcame a slow start to push Kansas, now 3-0, to the wire. Kansas had only a 56-54 lead with 9:35 left.

Unseld wound up as the game's high scorer with 23 points, 10 of them in the crucial 7½ minutes before the end. Harry Gibson backed him with 16 points.

John Malaise, scoring 16 points in the second half, wound up Texas Tech's high scorer with 21. Harold Denney scored 15 for the Texans.

After trailing the first quarter, Denney, Glen Hallum and Bill Murren pushed the attack and Tech went ahead 34-32 on a three point play by Murren. There was a 1:23 left in the half.

Gibson tied it on a layin for Kansas, then a three point play by Unseld and a free throw by Steve Renko gave Kansas a 38-36 halftime edge.

Then it was Malaise who carried the Texans in their second half bid for an upset.

—CURTIS CO. WANTS NEW TRIAL—

Excessiveness In Judgment Bothers Judge At Hearing

Atlanta (AP) —A federal district court judge said Tuesday he was concerned about the question of excessiveness in a $3.06 million libel judgment awarded Wallace Butts, former athletic director at the University of Georgia.

"Excessiveness is bothering me in this case — I'll be frank with you," Judge Lewis R. Morgan told opposing attorneys at a hearing on a retrial motion.

Judge Morgan gave no indication of when he might rule on Curtis Publishing Co.'s motions for a new trial and to set aside a jury verdict of last August.

The jury awarded Butts $3 million punitive damages and es for a Saturday Evening Post article charging that Butts and Coach Paul (Bear) Bryant of Alabama rigged the 1962 Georgia - Alabama football game.

Judge Morgan, who presided at the libel trial, said he did not believe he had authority to reduce the amount of the award. He indicated the amount was his chief concern despite about 30 grounds claimed by the Post as errors in the trial.

"Why wouldn't it be proper to let it all go to the court of appeals at one time?" Judge Morgan asked during the proceedings. That way, he indicated, all the points raised in the motions could be settled.

Climenko of New York, said the firm "did not get a fair trial." Climenko said Judge Morgan was fair but that arguments by Butts' attorneys to the jury were prejudicial.

William H. Schroder Jr., chief counsel for Butts, contended that objections should have been raised during the trial, not afterwards.

The verdict was without legal precedent, argued Welborn B. Cody, chief counsel for Curtis. No appellate court has affirmed punitive damages of more than $175,000, he said.

To that, Schroder replied:

"There's got to be a precedent some time. Maybe this is the precedent we're looking for."

Test Of Strength

The best basketball team in Nebraska will get the chance Friday night to find out how good it really is.

Friday is the date that Creighton's unbeaten Bluejays take on Arizona State, the nation's No. 4 ranked team in both Associated Press and United Press International cage polls. The site is Omaha's Civic Auditorium.

The Creighton squad has rolled to a 4-0 record and wasn't pushed until Monday night when Idaho State gave Coach Red McManus' club a scare before the Bluejays pulled out a 63-61 victory.

And the way they scored the win over Idaho State is typical of why the Creighton team must be reckoned with this season.

McManus can go to his bench and come up with a half dozen performers as substitutes without losing a thing. It was a far-down-the-list sub, Harry Forehand, who pulled out the win over Idaho State.

McManus faces a problem that most coaches dream of battling with some time during their career. While most coaches lose sleep because of a lack of bench strength, the Creighton coach tosses and turns, trying to decide whether to start Charlie Brown or Tom Potter, Loren James or Fritz Pointer, Tom Apke or Chuck Officer, Jim Bakos or Elton McGriff.

These problems are designed to bring smiles to a coach's face as he ponders the decision.

No Decision On Silas

One decision McManus doesn't have to wrestle with is the status of Paul Silas. The only problem here is a knee injury that has kept the big forward operating at a less-than-full-speed clip.

Even so, the 6-7 senior who led the nation in rebounding a year ago is impressing opposing coaches although playing only part-time.

"He's got my vote for All-American," exclaimed Hardin-Simmons coach Lou Henson after watching Silas lead the Bluejays to a 72-58 win over Henson's Texans.

Silas played only five minutes against Hardin-Simmons, but those five minutes were enough to boost Creighton. Silas entered the game with 14:05 remaining when Hardin-Simmons had closed a 35-22 halftime deficit to five points of the Silas-less Jays.

In less than two minutes, Silas, who had been resting a bothersome knee since the opening three minutes, cashed three field goals, took five rebounds and completely altered the course of the game.

Against Colorado in the season opener, McManus plucked substitutes off the bench as if they should have been starters all along. And each substitute seemed to think he had to do something to prove that he belonged in the game.

It was somewhat like stealing a chicken to prove that you belonged in a youth gang. Except most of the Creighton subs chose to prove their right to a Bluejay uniform by pumping in a two-pointer immediately upon entering the contest.

McManus' second five would be gobbled up immediately as starters on many college clubs if they were put on the auction block.

There is little argument over the equality on the Creighton club and Friday night Bluejay fans will find out whether the equality is all good or all bad.

Dye, Cipriano Request Better Sportsmanship

Recent unsportsmanlike behavior by basketball fans at University of Nebraska games has prompted athletic director Tippy Dye and coach Joe Cipriano to appeal for "enthusiastic support, tempered with good sportsmanship."

"We appreciate the support fans are giving basketball," Dye said. "But recent incidents of throwing objects on the playing floor have no place in athletics. Fan enthusiasm is a wonderful thing, but it should be tempered with good sportsmanship."

Dye cited such things as booing opponents and officials and throwing ice and drink cups on the playing floor as "actions which give Nebraska a poor sportsmanship rating."

"All of us should recognize that opposing teams and officials are our guests and deserve to receive courteous treatment," Dye said. "We do not want our athletes subjected to poor sportsmanship when they travel and we owe it to our opponents to see that they are treated the same way we want our teams treated."

Cipriano appealed to Husker fans — much of the cup-throwing was attributed to high school-age fans—to display good sportsmanship during the Nebraska-Texas Tech game Monday.

"There is no place for such poor sportsmanship in athletics," Cipriano said. "It not only is tremendously discourteous, but can be very dangerous to players on both teams. This is why we are asking our fans to back us with enthusiasm —but also with enthusiastic good sportsmanship."

Giants Respect Foe, But Welcome Showdown

New York (AP) — "We have lots of months to rest after Sunday if we don't do the job. Everybody but Alex Webster will be ready to play."

Allie Sherman summed up the physical condition of his New York Giants in so many words. And don't be surprised if Webster, the ailing fullback who is a master at the screen pass, gets in there, too, in the winner-take-all finale with Pittsburgh. The winner will be Eastern Division champion of the National Football League.

Webster, bothered by a bad back, hasn't played in recent games.

"I'm fine," he told writers in the clubhouse. "I'll be ready for Pittsburgh."

Webster will be watched carefully this week during practice to see if he can be counted upon to handle a heavy load of the ground game. Without their No. 1 bullback, the Giants lack a sound rushing game. Webster is the big threat when Y. A. Tittle finds no long receiver open and shifts to the screen pass.

"Pittsburgh is a good team," said Sherman. "They have a balanced offense. They can run and they can pass effectively. Their defense is well-knit. Obviously this will be the biggest game in the history of the Pittsburgh Steelers. We've been in it before."

The Giant players appear to welcome a showdown with the team that beat them 31-0 in September.

"They have fine balance," said Sam Huff, the Giants' middle linebacker. "John Henry Johnson is a good runner and their offensive line is tough. I think one of their most underrated players is Preston Carpenter, the tight end. He is a real football player, something like our Joe Walton.

"Playing Pittsburgh is like playing Green Bay. They like to control the ball. In this game it will be important to score first, not that we will be dead if we don't because we have a pretty good punch. It could be a tight, low scoring game.

"If they beat us twice they deserve to win it. Some clubs are better on the road but the Steelers are a strong hometown club."

Raiders Fall To Kansas

Lawrence, Kan (AP) — Kansas put on a spectacular shooting exhibition the first six minutes for a 20-5 lead, then needed some brilliant clutch shooting by George Unseld to defeat Texas Tech, 73-67, in basketball Tuesday.

The Texans, 1-4 for the year, overcame a slow start to push Kansas, now 3-0, to the wire. Kansas had only a 56-54 lead with 9:35 left.

Unseld wound up as the game's high scorer with 23 points, 10 of them in the crucial 7½ minutes before the end. Harry Gibson backed him with 16 points.

John Malaise, scoring 16 points in the second half, wound up Texas Tech's high scorer with 21. Harold Denney scored 15 for the Texans.

After trailing the first quarter, Denney, Glen Hallum and Bill Murren pushed the attack and Tech went ahead 34-32 on a three point play by Murren. There wsa 1:23 left in the half.

Gibson tied it on a layin for Kansas, then a three point play by Unseld and a free throw by Steve Renko gave Kansas a 38-36 halftime edge.

Then it was Malaise who carried the Texans in their second half bid for an upset.

Chisox Trade Peppery Vet

... FOR TWO FARM HANDS

Chicago (AP)—Nellie Fox, long-time, Chicago White Sox second baseman, was traded to the Houston Colts for two farm hands Tuesday.

Technically, the peppery Fox—who will be 36 on Christmas Day and reportedly drew a $42,500 salary last season—was sold to Houston. The White Sox, in turn, purchased pitcher Jim Golden and outfielder Dan Murphy, $100,000 Chicago Cub Bonus baby, from Houston's Oklahoma City farm club.

"Actually, we may be doing Fox a great favor," said General Manager Ed Short. "He may play two or three more regular seasons for Paul Richards (Houston general manager), who really wanted him to stabilize the young Colt infield."

Short hinted Fox might have been dislodged as a Chicago regular next spring.

"In effect, this was a trade of Fox for Golden and Murphy," said Short. "What money was involved balanced off."

Fox Out Hunting

The interleague deal was swung with Short unable to inform Fox, deer hunting in the mountains near his Chambersburg, Pa., home. Recent rumors had Fox going to Indianapolis as manager, but the post went to Les Moss and Short said he never had discussed the job with Fox.

"I broke the news to Nellie's wife, Joanne," said Short.

Mrs. Fox told reporters "I'm happy he's going back with Paul Richards."

14 All-Star Games

Fox has a lifetime average of .289 for 15 big league seasons and hit .300 or higher six times, but batted only .260 this past season. He was the American League's Most Valuable Player in 1959, when the White Sox won the pennant, and played in 14 All-Star Games.

Short said that either Don Buford or Al Weis was tabbed for Fox' job, even perhaps by next season.

"If it came to pass that either — and we count heavily on Buford — indicated the best interests of the club would be served by putting the younger, faster and more agile man at second base at once, we would have a problem," said Short.

Play Every Day

"Fox is the type of competitor who wants to play every inning of every game, and give it all he has. If he were a part-time player, he could hardly command the kind of salary he has rated as a regular. Obviously, he wouldn't like that and I would hate to ask him to consider it."

Departure of Fox, who played for the Lincoln Chiefs in 1948, leaves only center fielder Jim Landis from the 1959 White Sox pennant-winning regulars.

Right-hander Golden, 27, had a 9-11 record at Oklahoma City last season after spending all of 1962 with Houston.

Murphy, traded by the Cubs to Houston last March, batted .234 with San Antonio and .268 with Oklahoma City last season. He was assigned to Indianapolis of the Pacific Coast League but may get a spring trial with the White Sox.

Test Of Strength

The best basketball team in Nebraska will get the chance Friday night to find out how good it really is.

Friday is the date that Creighton's unbeaten Bluejays take on Arizona State, the nation's No. 4 ranked team in both Associated Press and United Press International cage polls. The site is Omaha's Civic Auditorium.

The Creighton squad has rolled to a 4-0 record and wasn't pushed until Monday night when Idaho State gave Coach Red McManus' club a scare before the Bluejays pulled out a 63-61 victory.

And the way they scored the win over Idaho State is typical of why the Creighton team must be reckoned with this season.

McManus can go to his bench and come up with a half dozen performers as substitutes without losing a thing. It was a far-down-the-list sub, Harry Forehand, who pulled out the win over Idaho State.

McManus faces a problem that most coaches dream of battling with some time during their career. While most coaches lose sleep because of a lack of bench strength, the Creighton coach tosses and turns, trying to decide whether to start Charlie Brown or Tom Potter, Loren James or Fritz Pointer, Tom Apke or Chuck Officer, Jim Bakos or Elton McGriff.

These problems are designed to bring smiles to a coach's face as he ponders the decision.

No Decision On Silas

One decision McManus doesn't have to wrestle with is the status of Paul Silas. The only problem here is a knee injury that has kept the big forward operating at a less-than-full-speed clip.

Even so, the 6-7 senior who led the nation in rebounding a year ago is impressing opposing coaches although playing only part-time.

"He's got my vote for All-American," exclaimed Hardin-Simmons coach Lou Henson after watching Silas lead the Bluejays to a 72-58 win over Henson's Texans.

Silas played only five minutes against Hardin-Simmons, but those five minutes were enough to boost Creighton. Silas entered the game with 14:05 remaining when Hardin-Simmons had closed a 35-22 halftime deficit to five points of the Silas-less Jays.

In less than two minutes, Silas, who had been resting a bothersome knee since the opening three minutes, cashed three field goals, took five rebounds and completely altered the course of the game.

Against Colorado in the season opener, McManus plucked substitutes off the bench as if they should have been starters all along. And each substitute seemed to think he had to do something to prove that he belonged in the game.

It was somewhat like stealing a chicken to prove that you belonged in a youth gang. Except most of the Creighton subs chose to prove their right to a Bluejay uniform by pumping in a two-pointer immediately upon entering the contest.

McManus' second five would be gobbled up immediately as starters on many college clubs if they were put on the auction block.

There is little argument over the equality on the Creighton club and Friday night Bluejay fans will find out whether the equality is all good or all bad.

Dye, Cipriano Request Better Sportsmanship

Recent unsportsmanlike behavior by basketball fans at University of Nebraska games has prompted athletic director Tippy Dye and coach Joe Cipriano to appeal for "enthusiastic support, tempered with good sportsmanship."

"We appreciate the support fans are giving basketball," Dye said. "But recent incidents of throwing objects on the playing floor have no place in athletics. Fan enthusiasm is a wonderful thing, but it should be tempered with good sportsmanship."

Dye cited such things as booing opponents and officials and throwing ice and drink cups on the playing floor as "actions which give Nebraska a poor sportsmanship rating."

"All of us should recognize that opposing teams and officials are our guests and deserve to receive courteous treatment," Dye said. "We do not want our athletes subjected to poor sportsmanship when they travel and we owe it to our opponents to see that they are treated the same way we want our teams treated."

Cipriano appealed to Husker fans — much of the cup-throwing was attributed to high school-age fans—to display good sportsmanship during the Nebraska-Texas Tech game Monday.

"There is no place for such poor sportsmanship in athletics," Cipriano said. "It not only is tremendously discourteous, but can be very dangerous to players on both teams. This is why we are asking our fans to back us with enthusiasm —but also with enthusiastic good sportsmanship."

—CURTIS CO. WANTS NEW TRIAL—

Excessiveness In Judgment Bothers Judge At Hearing

Atlanta (AP) —A federal district court judge said Tuesday he was concerned about the question of excessiveness in a $3.06 million libel judgment awarded Wallace Butts, former athletic director at the University of Georgia.

"Excessiveness is bothering me in this case — I'll be frank with you," Judge Lewis R. Morgan told opposing attorneys at a hearing on a retrial motion.

Judge Morgan gave no indication of when he might rule on Curtis Publishing Co.'s motions for a new trial and to set aside a jury verdict of last August.

The jury awarded Butts $3 million punitive damages and $60,000 compensatory damages for a Saturday Evening Post article charging that Butts and Coach Paul (Bear) Bryant of Alabama rigged the 1962 Georgia - Alabama football game.

Judge Morgan, who presided at the libel trial, said he did not believe he had authority to reduce the amount of the award. He indicated the amount was his chief concern despite about 30 grounds claimed by the Post as errors in the trial.

"Why wouldn't it be proper to let it all go to the court of appeals at one time?" Judge Morgan asked during the proceedings. That way, he indicated, all the points raised in the motions could be settled.

A Curtis attorney, Jess Climenko of New York, said the firm "did not get a fair trial." Climenko said Judge Morgan was fair but that arguments by Butts' attorneys to the jury were prejudicial.

William H. Schroder Jr., chief counsel for Butts, contended that objections should have been raised during the trial, not afterwards.

The verdict was without legal precedent, argued Welborn B. Cody, chief counsel for Curtis. No appellate court has affirmed punitive damages of more than $175,000, he said.

To that, Schroder replied:

"There's got to be a precedent some time. Maybe this is the precedent we're looking for."

All wrapped up and ready to please!

Loser Hamilton Counted His Chickens Too Fast

... PARKS WINS MAT TEST

Reggie Parks won his second rassle bout in as many Capital City attempts Tuesday night at Pershing Auditorium when Rocky Hamilton began boasting of a victory too soon.

Hamilton had thought Parks was counted out in the third fall of their main event, but did not realize that referee Ernie Dusek had stopped the toll when he noticed Parks had one leg draped over the bottom rope.

While Hamilton was waving to the crowd, Parks applied a reverse cradle, pinning the Missouri Mauler.

Parks had taken the first fall in only 33 seconds when he hammered Hamilton into submission after Rocky belted Parks a few blows before the opening gong.

Hamilton was then forced to retreat to the dressing room by Dusek to change shoes since he had entered the ring in street shoes. Hamilton then won the second fall, pinning Parks when the popular newcomer missed a drop kick.

Mitsu Arakawa won the semifinal, taking the first and third falls against Don Whittler with judo chops being the main weapon.

Duke Hoffman stopped Tony Manos in the special event with a knee drop and Jessica Rogers won the gals match over Ann Regan.

The next Pershing grapple card will be Jan. 7.

Wayne had led, 45-42, at the half and made the same number of points in the second half while Midland went ice cold and got only 28.

Farnam's Schurr Week's Top Cager

By DON FORSYTHE
Prep Sports Writer

Farnam may be facing an uphill battle in its bid for basketball prominence, but the Greenbacks promise to make things interesting for their foes in the southwest corner of the state this season.

And the big reason will probably be Jerry Schurr, a senior forward who is the campaign's first "player of the week" selection.

Schurr's sizzling shooting was instrumental in giving the Greenbacks a split with Class C opponents Elwood and Bertrand on the first weekend of play.

He canned 37 points in a 59-55 win over Elwood and followed up with a 43-point effort in a 64-61 loss to Bertrand.

And his activity wasn't confined to shooting. The slender six-footer grabbed 17 rebounds against Elwood and 19 against Bertrand.

Coach Bill Tullos and the Greenbacks are looking for improvement over last year's 5-11 mark, but they may be overshadowed in their own district in the Class D ratings.

State tourney semifinalist Maywood, boasting a veteran lineup, is regarded as the top contender from the area.

But with Schurr on target, don't count the Greenbacks out of the picture.

He and the following performers receive recognition for their play last week:

Wayne Hinrichs, Hildreth—Junior paced mates to two opening week wins with 40 points and 41 rebounds.

Kim Severson, Gering—Led team in rebounds, turned in good defensive effort in 60-46 win over Kimball.

Frank Brill, Lincoln High—Tossed in 27 points, was workhorse on the boards as Links opened with win over Council Bluffs Abraham Lincoln.

Darrell Hinrichs, Gilmer—Led mates to highest score of opening week with 37 points in 112-26 triumph over Boelus.

Ken Benne, West Point—Football standout made switch to basketball in fine style, scoring 31 points in 74-44 win over Bancroft.

Steve Bock, Lincoln Southeast—Steady play, 41 points got Knights off to quick start with wins over Beatrice and Omaha Central.

Tom Beutler, Stubert—Last year's top scorer for the Panthers got off to fine start with 35 points against Nemaha.

Jim Colgrove, Minatare—Scored 20 points, led team in rebounding and gave strong defensive play in 48-45 win over Bayard

David Dostal, Scribner—Senior standout paced team in scoring, rebounding in 63-57 triumph over Lyons.

Sunday Last Day Of Goose Hunting

Nebraska waterfowl hunters have had a good season this year, particularly on geese, but the gunners must put up their weapons soon, the State Game Commission said.

The Goose season will close Sunday at sunset, after being open since Oct. 2.

Reports of waterfowl populations, including geese, have been excellent for most parts of the state, the Commission said.

Loser Hamilton Counted His Chickens Too Fast

... PARKS WINS MAT TEST

Reggie Parks won his second rassle bout in as many Capital City attempts Tuesday night at Pershing Auditorium when Rocky Hamilton began boasting of a victory too soon.

Hamilton had thought Parks was counted out in the third fall of their main event, but did not realize that referee Erne Dusek had stopped the toll when he noticed Parks had one leg draped over the bottom rope.

While Hamilton was waving to the crowd, Parks applied a reverse cradle, pinning the Missouri Mauler.

Parks had taken the first fall in only 33 seconds when he hammered Hamilton into submission after Rocky belted Parks a few blows before the opening gong.

Hamilton was then forced to retreat to the dressing room by Dusek to change shoes since he had entered the ring in street shoes. Hamilton then won the second fall, pinning Parks when the popular newcomer missed a drop kick.

Mitsu Arakawa won the semifinal, taking the first and third falls against Don Whittler with judo chops being the main weapon.

Duke Hoffman stopped Tony Manos in the special event with a knee drop and Jessica Rogers won the gals match over Ann Regan.

The next Pershing grapple card will be Jan. 7.

Farnam's Schurr Week's Top Cager

By DON FORSYTHE
Prep Sports Writer

Farnam may be facing an uphill battle in its bid for basketball prominence, but the Greenbacks promise to make things interesting for their foes in the southwest corner of the state this season.

And the big reason will probably be Jerry Schurr, a senior forward who is the campaign's first "player of the week" selection.

Schurr's sizzling shooting was instrumental in giving the Greenbacks a split with Class C opponents Elwood and Bertrand on the first weekend of play.

He canned 37 points in a 59-55 win over Elwood and followed up with a 43-point effort in a 64-61 loss to Bertrand.

And his activity wasn't confined to shooting. The slender six-footer grabbed 17 rebounds against Elwood and 19 against Bertrand.

Coach Bill Tullos and the Greenbacks are looking for improvement over last year's 5-11 mark, but they may be overshadowed in their own district in the Class D ratings.

State tourney semifinalist Maywood, boasting a veteran lineup, is regarded as the top contender from the area.

But with Schurr on target, don't count the Greenbacks out of the picture.

He and the following performers receive recognition for their play last week:

Wayne Hinrichs, Hildreth—Junior paced mates to two opening week wins with 40 points and 41 rebounds.

Kim Severson, Gering—Led team in rebounds, turned in good defensive effort in 60-46 win over Kimball.

Frank Brill, Lincoln High—Tossed in 27 points, was workhorse on the boards as Links opened with win over Council Bluffs Abraham Lincoln.

Darrell Hinrichs, Giltner—Led mates to highest score of opening week with 37 points in 112-26 triumph over Boelus.

Ken Benne, West Point—Football standout made switch to basketball in fine style, scoring 31 points in 74-44 win over Bancroft.

Steve Bock, Lincoln Southeast—Steady play, 41 points got Knights off to quick start with wins over Beatrice and Omaha Central.

Tom Beutler, Shubert—Last year's top scorer for the Panthers got off to fine start with 35 points against Nemaha.

Jim Colgrove, Minatare—Scored 20 points, led team in rebounding and gave strong defensive play in 48-45 win over Bayard.

David Dostal, Scribner—Senior standout paced team in scoring, rebounding in 63-57 triumph over Lyons.

Sunday Last Day Of Goose Hunting

Nebraska waterfowl hunters have had a good season this year, particularly on geese, but the gunners must put up their weapons soon, the State Game Commission said.

The Goose season will close Sunday at sunset, after being open since Oct. 2.

Reports of waterfowl populations, including geese, have been excellent for most parts of the state, the Commission said.

Recreation Meet Slated At Omaha

A state-wide conference has been scheduled for April 11 to study implementation of a legislative bill which permits schools, municipalities and other agencies to levy a tax to support recreation in local communities.

John C. Thompson, conference chairman, said the meeting will be held at the Omaha University Conference Center and invitations will be issued to mayors, school personnel, county officials and other agency representatives.

The conference was arranged by the Nebraska Park and Recreation Association.

Loyola Tops Both Polls

... AP HAS NYU SECOND

By Associated Press

Loyola of Chicago, last season's national champion, has taken a commanding lead in The Associated Press' weekly college basketball poll on the strength of impressive victories in its first two games this year.

Loyola collected 353 points in the season's first balloting Tuesday by a special panel of 36 basketball writers and broadcasters. New York University is second with 312 points, followed by Duke with 272.

Loyola, which overpowered North Dakota, 92-54, and Kent State, 100-59, was named the top team on 32 ballots. NYU, winner over Cornell and Tulsa, received the other four first-place votes.

Duke lifted its record to 3-0 with triumphs over Ohio State, 76-75, and West Virginia, 86-81, in winning the West Virginia Centennial tournament.

Arizona State is fourth followed by Kentucky, Cincinnati, Michigan, Ohio State, Oregon State and Kansas. Points were awarded on a basis of 10 for a first-place vote, 9 for second, 8 for third, etc.

The Top Ten teams through games of Saturday, Dec. 7:

Team	Pts

Duke In No. 2 Spot In UPI Cage Listing

New York (UPI) — Loyola of Chicago is cast in a new role this year and thus far the Ramblers are playing their part to perfection as witnessed by their continued top billing in the United Press International college basketball ratings.

Last season Cincinnati was considered the outstanding team in the country and it wasn't until the final second of an overtime period in the NCAA final that Loyola was able to knock the glamour off the bearcats.

This time around it's Loyola which has the built-in reputation and the Ramblers will be hard-pressed all season to maintain their No. 1 ranking. Coach George Ireland, confident his boys can adjust to their new role, Tuesday called the squad a "better team than last year" and added, "we respect everybody, but we're scared of none of them."

The respect is mutual and after two impressive early-season victories Loyola is a near-unanimous choice as the top college team. Of the 35 coaches who make up the UPI board, 32 cast their votes for the Ramblers. Loyola received 336 points of a possible 350.

Duke moved into second position with one first-place ballot and 277 points and New York University is a close third with the remaining two first-place votes and 271 points.

Team	Points
1—Loyola (Ill.) (32) (2-0)	336
2—Duke (1) (3-0)	277
3—New York University (2) (2-0)	271
4—Arizona State (2-0)	207
5—Michigan (3-0)	130
6—Cincinnati (2-1)	123

President Asks Farm Bureau Help In Stabilizing Agriculture

By OVID MARTIN

Chicago (AP) — President Johnson asked the American Farm Bureau Federation, a foe of many recent Democrat party farm policies, Tuesday, to help him find new and more effective ways of bringing economic stability to agriculture.

The President's friendly gesture was made in a letter to the federation's annual convention delivered and read by a close friend and political associate, Sen. Hubert H. Humphrey, Democrat of Minnesota.

Johnson's communication was warmly applauded by Farm Bureau members getting accustomed to being on the outside insofar as the recent White House occupants were concerned in the formulation of agricultural policies and programs.

Bureau President Charles B. Shuman, an Illinois farmer, welcomed the Johnson move. In a telegraphed reply, Shuman said he is, "particularly pleased that you recognize that farmers speaking through their own organizations are in a position to help point the way to the solution of these problems."

Since the late President Kennedy took office in 1961, little weight had been given by the administration to Farm Bureau proposals.

The Kennedy administration espoused strong production control and farm payment programs to stabilize production and prices. The Farm Bureau has been trying for years to get the government out of agriculture.

But Tuesday's action by the President does not necessarily mean that he will shift to the Farm Bureau viewpoint. Only time can tell what will happen. Farm Bureau leaders said they foresee in Johnson's letter—read in a convention talk by Humphrey—a possible move by the administration to reduce use of mandatory controls. What might be adopted to take place of controls, they said, could be about as objectionable to the Farm Bureau as controls.

Some Bureau leaders predicted Johnson may move toward a greatly expanded foreign food-aid program—a program that would provide an outlet for the increased farm production that might follow elimination of controls and the maintenance of relatively high farm price supports. The bureau wants lower supports as a mechanism for discouraging overproduction

Humphrey's talk, which was weighted rather heavily with good words for the Farm Bureau, stirred speculation among convention delegates that he had been chosen by Johnson—with an eye on next year's presidential election—to serve as a peacemaker among the many groups now at war over future government farm policies.

Too, it led newsmen to ask Humphrey if he were a candidate for vice president on a ticket headed by Johnson next year. The senator would say neither yea or nay, but he smiled broadly.

In his message to the convention, the President said, "we need to search for better ways, ever responsive to changing conditions, to enable farmers and ranchers to share more fully in the bounty which they help create."

If Humphrey has his way, this search will be made next year by a national commission of government officials, farm leaders, economists, business, industry and labor leaders and consumer representatives. The senator said he had discussed this proposal with the President. He did not say what the President's attitude is.

Johnson said he wants to know, among other things, how the free market system —the goal of the Farm Bureau —could be used effectively to solve farm problems. Shuman, in reply, said he is glad the President recognized "the importance of using the pricing mechanism of the free market and finding ways to make it more effective."

AAUP Chapter At NU Seeking 2 Fringe Benefits

The University of Nebraska chapter of the American Association of University Professors (AAUP) has proposed two fringe benefits for consideration.

Robert Knoll, outgoing AAUP president, said the organization has suggested to University Foundation officials that the Foundation underwrite moving expenses when the University hires new faculty members.

Also proposed was that dependents of faculty members be permitted to take college courses without paying tuition.

Dr. James C. Olson, chairman of the History Department, was elected president of the AAUP chapter at the University

Dr. Carl Georgi was elected vice president; Dr. Louis Crompton, secretary; Dr. Clemens Thoman, treasurer; and Dr. Edward Zimmerman, director.

Johnson Urged To Halt Walkout Against Airlines

Washington (UPI) — Sen. Carl T. Curtis, R-Neb., Tuesday urged President Johnson to use his office to prevent a threatened strike against United Airlines.

Curtis said he made the appeal in behalf of many Nebraska mayors, civic leaders, educators, students, servicemen, airline employees and others.

"Travel at Christmas time is very important to many individuals and their families as well as to those economically affected," Curtis said in a telegram to the President.

"I urge that you request the union leaders in control to accept the findings made by the presidential fact finding board on Nov. 18 and thus avoid the strike," Curtis said.

Neither Martin, Beermann Plan To Sign Petition

Washington (AP) — Reps. Dave Martin and Ralph F. Beermann, Nebraska Republicans, said Tuesday they have no intention of signing a petition to force House action on the civil rights bill.

Asked whether he had signed or planned to sign, Rep. Glenn Cunningham, R-Neb., said: "I'll make an announcement on this in due time."

Martin told a reporter he never signs petitions. He said there is no possibility of getting the bill to the House floor before mid-January and Rep. Howard W. Smith, D-Va., Rules Committee chairman, has promised hearings reasonably early next year.

"I think that is the orderly way to handle the bill," he said.

Beermann said he has never signed this type of petition.

"I feel this is a disruption of the committee system of handling legislation," he said.

Brinkman Waives Hearing; Bond Set At $1,000

Columbus (AP)—Harold Brinkman waived preliminary hearing and was bound over to District Court Tuesday on a charge of child stealing. Bond was set at $1,000.

Previously bound over were the Rev. George D. Swiney and his son, Loren, 25

The charges grew out of Brinkman's taking four of his wife's children by a former marriage. They were later returned. Mrs. Brinkman said the children were taken following a dispute which involved the minister and his son.

It has been assumed the cases will be set in the January term of District Court.

Contempt Accusation Filed By City

The City of Lincoln, as plaintiff-intervenor in the Club Safari injunction suit, Tuesday filed an accusation for contempt of court against the West Lincoln Village Board.

Lancaster District Judge Bartlett E. Boyles has set trial of the defendant board members for Jan. 7.

The accusation asks the defendants be judged guilty of indirect contempt of a May 10 restraining order and be punished by fine or imprisonment.

The city also asks judgment of $525 in damages, costs and expenses by reason of alleged contempt by the defendant board.

The defendants collected occupation taxes and fees of $100 on Aug. 26 from the club in knowingly and willfully refusing to obey the May 10 restraining order, according to the accusation authorized by the court.'

The Club Safari is located within the Midway Addition, which has been annexed by both the city and village and is presently in dispute. The club recently withdrew as a plantiff in the case, but the city continued as an intervening plaintiff.

Defendant West Lincoln board members are James Francke, chairman; Cecil Campbell, Robert Knape, Wayne Siecrest and Curtis O. Jensen.

President Asks Farm Bureau Help In Stabilizing Agriculture

By OVID MARTIN

Chicago (AP) — President Johnson asked the American Farm Bureau Federation, a foe of many recent Democrat party farm policies, Tuesday, to help him find new and more effective ways of bringing economic stability to agriculture.

The President's friendly gesture was made in a letter to the federation's annual convention delivered and read by a close friend and political associate, Sen. Hubert H. Humphrey, Democrat of Minnesota.

Johnson's communication was warmly applauded by Farm Bureau members getting accustomed to being on the outside insofar as the recent White House occupants were concerned in the formulation of agricultural policies and programs.

Bureau President Charles B. Shuman, an Illinois farmer, welcomed the Johnson move. In a telegraphed reply, Shuman said he is "particularly pleased that you recognize that farmers speaking through their own organizations are in a position to help point the way to the solution of these problems."

Since the late President Kennedy took office in 1961, little weight had been given by the administration to Farm Bureau proposals.

The Kennedy administration espoused strong production control and farm payment programs to stabilize production and prices. The Farm Bureau has been trying for years to get the government out of agriculture.

But Tuesday's action by the President does not necessarily mean that he will shift to the Farm Bureau viewpoint. Only time can tell what will happen. Farm Bureau leaders said they foresee in Johnson's letter—read in a convention talk by Humphrey—a possible move by the administration to reduce use of mandatory controls. What might be adopted to take place of controls, they said, could be about as objectionable to the Farm Bureau as controls.

Some Bureau leaders predicted Johnson may move toward a greatly expanded foreign food-aid program—a program that would provide an outlet for the increased farm production that might follow elimination of controls and the maintenance of relatively high farm price supports. The bureau wants lower supports as a mechanism for discouraging overproduction.

Humphrey's talk, which was weighted rather heavily with good words for the Farm Bureau, stirred speculation among convention delegates that he had been chosen by Johnson—with an eye on next year's presidential election—to serve as a peacemaker among the many groups now at war over future government farm policies.

Too, it led newsmen to ask Humphrey if he were a candidate for vice president on a ticket headed by Johnson next year. The senator would say neither yea or nay, but he smiled broadly.

In his message to the convention, the President said, "we need to search for better ways, ever responsive to changing conditions, to enable farmers and ranchers to share more fully in the bounty which they help create."

If Humphrey has his way, this search will be made next year by a national commission of government officials, farm leaders, economists, business, industry and labor leaders and consumer representatives. The senator said he had discussed this proposal with the President. He did not say what the President's attitude is.

Johnson said he wants to know, among other things, how the free market system —the goal of the Farm Bureau —could be used effectively to solve farm problems. Shuman, in reply, said he is glad the President recognized "the importance of using the pricing mechanism of the free market and finding ways to make it more effective."

Interstate 80 Link To City Opens Today

The southbound segment of the Interstate Highway access route linking downtown Lincoln with Interstate 80's main stem north of the city will be opened to traffic at 10 a.m. Wednesday.

No formal opening ceremony is planned.

The 1.5-mile extension of Interstate 180 runs south from the Cornhusker Hwy. interchange over Oak and Salt Creeks and railroad tracks north of Lincoln.

Northbound lanes are expected to be completed by the end of this month if weather conditions permit.

AAUP Chapter At NU Seeking 2 Fringe Benefits

The University of Nebraska chapter of the American Association of University Professors (AAUP) has proposed two fringe benefits for consideration.

Robert Knoll, outgoing AAUP president, said the organization has suggested to University Foundation officials that the Foundation underwrite moving expenses when the University hires new faculty members.

Also proposed was that dependents of faculty members be permitted to take college courses without paying tuition.

Dr. James C. Olson, chairman of the History Department, was elected president of the AAUP chapter at the University.

Dr. Carl Georgi was elected vice president; Dr. Louis Crompton, secretary; Dr. Clemens Thoman, treasurer; and Dr. Edward Zimmerman, director.

Johnson Urged To Halt Walkout Against Airlines

Washington (UPI) — Sen. Carl T. Curtis, R-Neb., Tuesday urged President Johnson to use his office to prevent a threatened strike against United Airlines.

Curtis said he made the appeal in behalf of many Nebraska mayors, civic leaders, educators, students, servicemen, airline employees and others.

"Travel at Christmas time is very important to many individuals and their families as well as to those economically affected," Curtis said in a telegram to the President.

"I urge that you request the union leaders in control to accept the findings made by the presidential fact finding board on Nov. 18 and thus avoid the strike," Curtis said.

Neither Martin, Beermann Plan To Sign Petition

Washington (AP) — Reps. Dave Martin and Ralph F. Beermann, Nebraska Republicans, said Tuesday they have no intention of signing a petition to force House action on the civil rights bill.

Asked whether he had signed or planned to sign, Rep. Glenn Cunningham, R-Neb., said: "I'll make an announcement on this in due time."

Martin told a reporter he never signs petitions. He said there is no possibility of getting the bill to the House floor before mid-January and Rep. Howard W. Smith, D-Va., Rules Committee chairman, has promised hearings reasonably early next year.

"I think that is the orderly way to handle the bill," he said.

Beermann said he has never signed this type of petition.

"I feel this is a disruption of the committee system of handling legislation," he said.

Brinkman Waives Hearing; Bond Set At $1,000

Columbus (AP)—Harold Brinkman waived preliminary hearing and was bound over to District Court Tuesday on a charge of child stealing. Bond was set at $1,000.

Previously bound over were the Rev. George D. Swiney and his son, Loren, 25.

The charges grew out of Brinkman's taking four of his wife's children by a former marriage. They were later returned. Mrs. Brinkman said the children were taken following a dispute which involved the minister and his son.

It has been assumed the cases will be set in the January term of District Court.

EVERYBODY'S MONEY:

Financial Foresight Seen As Symptom Of Maturity

By Merryle S. Rukeyser

It is a symptom of maturity to employ foresight and try to do the best you can for yourself and your family in the years to come.

Rukeyser

This trulsm is dramatized in the financial case history of an army doctor who writes to this column for advice. In addition to discussing his financial assets and liabilities, he raises a very human question: whether to stay on active duty in the army for the full 20 years as opposed to retiring after a nine year stay to which he is obligated and then entering private practice.

The doctor has a wife and three young children, and carries $50,000 life insurance on his life, including $5,000 of ordinary and the remainder of level term. There is also $5,000 on his wife.

He has $800 in a no-load mutual fund, which has shown growth propensities except in the adverse markets of 1962. He has $100 a month available for investment, and should continue to put it in such a fund.

After the event some insurance men will criticize the insurance program recommended to the doctor. They will point out that this is an expensive plan if he lives to 65. So what? He has obtained a large degree of protection for his family at a modest outlay. As the physician's income rises, he might well increase his permanent insurance.

As for his personal decision, the doctor should give weight to the pension which he will earn if he stays the full 20 years. He has already been in service for three years. If he limits his tour to nine years, he will be out in six. He will then be 34 which is not old for a physician. With a large family, the doctor should be able to earn more in private practice, although he should be prepared for several lean years at the beginning. Perhaps in the next six years, he can improve his status by specialization. Then he would do well to consider joining a medical group on the outside.

In order to state the choices objectively, it should be borne in mind that for better or worse private practice is more speculative than army work. If the emphasis is on security rather than affluence, the argument is in favor of the army. But these days the economic opportunities for physicians are bright.

Q.—A professional man in McLean, Virginia writes: "I am confused regarding mutual funds. I wish to invest $100 per month in a fund, with a view to it providing funds for my son's college education in 10 years time. I have been offered so many alternatives I don't know which end is up. Some are 'front-loaded', some reinvest at no charge. What do you advise for criterion for a mutual fund, with the above aim in mind."

A.—If you are the passive type and need someone to ring your doorbell and force you to take in the interest of your family, then you should be prepared to pay for this service. Most open end mutual funds add a "load" for selling expenses of 8½%. On the other hand, if you are self propelled, you can avoid this entrance fee by taking the initiative and contacting one of the firms offering a "no load" fund at net asset value. I am mailing you a list.

The criterion is the quality of investment management. This must be judged by general reputation and especially by past performance as recorded in the standard manuals. The well managed funds showed substantial growth during the past decade, but most of the funds stubbed their toes during the bad markets in 1962 but have subsequently recovered. If you deposit the same sum quarterly in the same security, you get the benefit of "dollar averaging." You should let your dividends and capital gain distributions accumulate in order to swell your fund through the workings of compound interest.

Q.—A woman reader in New York City is irate over a direct mail holiday sales pitch by a department store. She sends along the promotional material for analysis and comment.

A.—The general manager sent a form letter—apparently to charge account customers—enclosing three colored certificates of different dollar denominations captioned "holiday purchase certificate." Apparently this was designed to catch attention by perhaps creating the illusion that the certificates were analogous to the widely circulated gift certificates, which can be exchanged for merchandise. But this store's certificates are not exchangeable for merchandise, but only for merchandise coupons. In getting the coupons, the customer authorizes the store to charge her for the merchandise in February 1964. What's it all about? In technical terms, the department store ballyhoo does nothing, more than defer the time for payment for charge purchases from the next month to February.

As a promotion, I think the brain trusters struck out.

A merchant should cultivate a reputation in his community for integrity and service to customers. Gimmicks and gadgets dilute the image.

It seems to me that manufacturers of nationally branded products showed immaturity in allowing their merchandise to be exploited on TV give-away shows as free gifts to contestants. This is a cheap and undesirable association for a famous product.

It would be more in the spirit of the American free choice system for the customer to think of a branded product as so eminently desirable as to be worthy of the sacrifice of giving up purchasing power to obtain it.

In connection with the holiday purchase certificates, the department store's general manager, writes: "They (the certificates) are the perfect way to take care of your Christmas shopping needs without burdening the budget!"

What manner of suckerbait is this?

In my book, your budget is burdened whether the liability is immediate or deferred a month or so.

It is a perversion of free enterprise to link it with something for nothing.

(Mr. Rukeyser will be pleased to receive inquiries from readers concerning their financial problems. Letters with self-addressed, stamped envelopes should be sent in care of The Lincoln Star. Questions of general interest will be answered in the column.)

Grain Mart Shows Signs Of Rallying

Chicago (AP) — The grain futures market showed a little rallying tendency in late transactions Tuesday on the Board of Trade but still finished with only a few more gains than losses.

Except for soybeans all net changes were limited to fractions of a cent after a partial recovery. Soybeans had gains of two cents or more in spots on late demand credited largely to speculators.

Wheat closed ⅛ cent a bushel higher to ⅜ lower, December $2.16¼-⅜; soybeans ⅛-¾ higher, January $2.70¼-⅝; corn ⅛ lower to ¼ higher, December $1.18¼-⅜; oats ⅛ lower to ¼ higher, December 68⅞ cents; rye ¼ lower, December $1.40¼.

Space Issues Are Down In Mixed Market

New York (AP) — Aerospace issues were down in a mixed stock market Tuesday following reports of possible budget cuts for various space age projects. Trading was moderate.

Although the popular stock market indicators showed thin gains, 30 more stocks declined than advanced on the New York Stock Exchange.

It was the third straight session of a muddled pattern affected by cross currents arising from year end tax-loss selling and switching. The market seemed to lack a definite incentive to move one way or another.

The Dow Jones industrial average made a slim gain of .17 at 759.25.

The Associated Press average of 60 stocks edged up .2 at 283.4 with industrials down .1, rails up .5 and utilities up .2.

Of 1,326 issues traded, losers outnumbered gainers by 541 to 511. New highs for the year totaled 40 and new lows 36.

Of the 15 most active stocks, 7 rose, 6 fell and 2 were unchanged.

Prices moved irregularly lower on the American Stock Exchange.

Corporate bonds were mixed. U.S. government bonds were mostly unchanged.

EVERYBODY'S MONEY:

Financial Foresight Seen As Symptom Of Maturity

By Merryle S. Rukeyser

It is a symptom of maturity to employ foresight and try to do the best you can for yourself and your family in the years to come.

Rukeyser

This truism is dramatized in the financial case history of an army doctor who writes to this column for advice. In addition to discussing his financial assets and liabilities, he raises a very human question: whether to stay on active duty in the army for the full 20 years as opposed to retiring after a nine year stay to which he is obligated and then entering private practice.

The doctor has a wife and three young children, and carries $50,000 life insurance on his life, including $5,000 of ordinary and the remainder of level term. There is also $5,000 on his wife.

He has $800 in a no-load mutual fund, which has shown growth propensities except in the adverse markets of 1962. He has $100 a month available for investment, and should continue to put it in such a fund.

After the event some insurance men will criticize the insurance program recommended to the doctor. They will point out that this is an expensive plan if he lives to 65. So what? He has obtained a large degree of protection for his family at a modest outlay. As the physician's income rises, he might well increase his permanent insurance.

As for his personal decision, the doctor should give weight to the pension which he will earn if he stays the full 20 years. He has already been in service for three years. If he limits his tour to nine years, he will be out in six. He will then be 34 which is not old for a physician. With a large family, the doctor should be able to earn more in private practice, although he should be prepared for several lean years at the beginning. Perhaps in the next six years, he can improve his status by specialization. Then he would do well to consider joining a medical group on the outside.

In order to state the choices objectively, it should be borne in mind that for better or worse private practice is more speculative than army work. If the emphasis is on security rather than affluence, the argument is in favor of the army. But these days the economic opportunities for physicians are bright.

Q.—A professional man in McLean, Virginia writes: "I am confused regarding mutual funds. I wish to invest $100 per month in a fund, with a view to it providing funds for my son's college education in 10 years time. I have been offered so many alternatives I don't know which end is up. Some are 'front-loaded', some reinvest at no charge. What do you advise for criterion for a mutual fund, with the above aim in mind."

A.—If you are the passive type and need someone to ring your doorbell and force you to take in the interest of your family, then you should be prepared to pay for this service. Most open end mutual funds add a "load" for selling expenses of 8½%. On the other hand, if you are self propelled, you can avoid this entrance fee by taking the initiative and contacting one of the firms offering a "no load" fund at net asset value. I am mailing you a list.

The criterion is the quality of investment management. This must be judged by general reputation and especially by past performance as recorded in the standard manuals. The well managed funds showed substantial growth during the past decade, but most of the funds stubbed their toes during the bad markets in 1962 but have subsequently recovered. If you deposit the same sum quarterly in the same security, you get the benefit of "dollar averaging." You should let your dividends and capital gain distributions accumulate in order to swell your fund through the workings of compound interest.

Q.—A woman reader in New York City is irate over a direct mail holiday sales pitch by a department store. She sends along the promotional material for analysis and comment.

A.—The general manager sent a form letter—apparently to charge account customers—enclosing three colored certificates of different dollar denominations captioned "holiday purchase certificate." Apparently this was designed to catch attention by perhaps creating the illusion that the certificates were analogous to the widely circulated gift certificates, which can be exchanged for merchandise. But this store's certificates are not exchangeable for merchandise, but only for merchandise coupons. In getting the coupons, the customer authorizes the store to charge her for the merchandise in February 1964. What's it all about? In technical terms, the department store ballyhoo does nothing more than defer the time for payment for charge purchases from the next month to February.

As a promotion, I think the brain trusters struck out.

A merchant should cultivate a reputation in his community for integrity and service to customers. Gimmicks and gadgets dilute the image.

It seems to me that manufacturers of nationally branded products showed immaturity in allowing their merchandise to be exploited on TV give-away shows as free gifts to contestants. This is a cheap and undesirable association for a famous product.

It would be more in the spirit of the American free choice system for the customer to think of a branded product as so eminently desirable as to be worthy of the sacrifice of giving up purchasing power to obtain it.

In connection with the holiday purchase certificates, the department store's general manager, writes: "They (the certificates) are the perfect way to take care of your Christmas shopping needs without burdening the budget!"

What manner of suckerbait is this?

In my book, your budget is burdened whether the liability is immediate or deferred a month or so.

It is a perversion of free enterprise to link it with something for nothing.

(Mr. Rukeyser will be pleased to receive inquiries from readers concerning their financial problems. Letters with self-addressed, stamped envelopes should be sent in care of The Lincoln Star. Questions of general intreest will be answered in the column.)

Grain Mart Shows Signs Of Rallying

Chicago (AP) — The grain futures market showed a little rallying tendency in late transactions Tuesday on the Board of Trade but still finished with only a few more gains than losses.

Except for soybeans all net changes were limited to fractions of a cent after a partial recovery. Soybeans had gains of two cents or more in spots on late demand credited largely to speculators.

Wheat closed ½ cent a bushel higher to ½ lower, December $2.16½; soybeans ½-2½ higher, January $2.70¾-⅞; corn ⅜ lower to ⅛ higher, December $1.18⅜-½; oats ⅜ lower to ¼ higher, December 68⅞ cents; rye ¼-⅜ lower, December $1.46¾.

Here Is Your "Do It Yourself" 10 Point Home Buyers Guide"

1. Talk to at least 5 long time residents and find out the areas in the city that have a good resale history.
2. Check with the school and church officials as to facilities which you might desire.
3. Go to the Courthouse look up comparable sales in the areas you are interested in and find the general price range.
4. Check with the City Hall, find out types of present zoning that could affect you and your house now and in the future for potential business encroachment. Also future plans of arterial or street improvements that could affect the neighborhood
5. Call the Bus Company and get complete bus schedules in different areas.
6. Write FHA and VA and get complete details on qualifications of house and buyer in a potential sale.
7. Check with banks and loan companies as to the best type of financing and what is available for your particular case.
8. Decide on the house and then go to lumber companies, builders or even the city library (text book information) concerning construction cost, comparable price with new homes—to help decide present condition of existing physical features of the dwelling.
9. Call an abstractor and get the history of your potential property.
10. Then, do all of the running around needed to correlate all of the details of the final sale consummation.

'King Of Torts' To Aid Ruby

Dallas (UPI) —San Francisco lawyer Melvin Belli, famed for his courtroom fireworks, Tuesday took over as chief lawyer for Jack Ruby and said Ruby will plead innocent by reason of insanity to the slaying of accused presidential assassin Lee Harvey Oswald.

Belli, known as the "King of Torts" for his spectacular successes in high-priced California injury suits, said his case will be ready for trial Feb. 3, the date set by Dist. Judge Joe B. Brown.

"We will be ready," he said. "We will plead him not guilty by reason of insanity."

3 Others

Belli said he and attorneys Sam S. Brody of Los Angeles and J. H. Tonahill of Jasper, Tex., will join Tom Howard of Dallas in representing Ruby.

Belli, sporting cowboy-type boots and a fur-collared overcoat, said he will serve as chief counsel. Brody is an associate and Tonahill was director of the Texas Bar Association from 1959 to 1961.

"We entered the case on the presumption that Ruby was free of any taint of connection with Oswald or with Communism," Belli said.

Belli said Ruby's brother Fred Ruby of Detroit asked him to enter the case. He declined to say who would pay for his services.

Ruby, he said, "Wasn't the (type) man I expected to see. I was impressed with his sincerity."

"If ever there was a man entitled to plead not guilty, Jack is the one. That is what compelled us to enter this case."

The four lawyers visited with Ruby in his Dallas County jail cell Tuesday morning. Afterward, they talked briefly with Dist. Judge Joe B. Brown, the man who will hear the case.

Unusual

"He (Ruby) told me many unusual things," the attorney said. "His story hasn't been told and won't be told until we get into the court room.

"We will have some of the greatest names in psychiatry in the United States as witnesses."

Belli said the defense may seek a change of venue. But he added, "I was impressed with Judge Brown as a fair, impartial jurist."

Feast At Funeral

Gueret, France (AP) —Farmer Marcel Bonnet, 55, has set aside 1,000 francs ($200) to provide for a "joyous banquet" at his funeral.

CLARK FILES FOR GOP NOD AS TREASURER

Rollin F. Clark of rural Lexington Tuesday filed for the Republican nomination for state treasurer.

Clark was the fourth GOP candidate to file for the office. Filing earlier were Ludwig Martin Larsen of Lincoln, Leo N. Swanson and Eugene G. Richardson, both of Omaha.

One Democratic candidate, Fred Sorensen of Omaha, has filed for the $9,000-a-year post.

Incumbent Treasurer Clarence L. E. Swanson is prohibited by law from seeking re-election. He has served two consecutive terms.

Remains Of Many In Crash Can't Be Identified

Elkton, Md. (AP) — Many of the 81 persons who perished in the explosion and crash of a jet airliner Sunday night will never be identified from their remains, Maryland's chief medical examiner said Tuesday.

"We've got about a dozen of them which I'm prepared to certify did die in that plane crash," said Dr. Russell S. Fisher, the medical examiner.

"We most certainly won't get them all. There will be a substantial number who will never be identified."

The four-engine Boeing 707 of Pan American World Airways, with eight crewmen and 73 passengers aboard, was en route from Puerto Rico to Philadelphia. Just short of its destination, it exploded and fell from the skies in fiery fragments.

Bucking Storm

Flight 214 was bucking a thunderstorm at the time and, because of the weather, was in a holding pattern of the Philadelphia International Airport where it was to land.

It crashed in a muddy cornfield near the Maryland-Delaware border, about 15 miles southwest of Wilmington, Del.

The death toll would have been almost double had not about 70 persons aboard disembarked in Baltimore. Even so, it was the nation's second worst air disaster involving a single airliner. The crash of a jet in New York City in March 1962 killed 95.

To avoid making families distraught, Dr. Fisher said he would delay as long as possible turning the remains over to Pan American or the families. When identification is released, Pan Am said, it will notify next of kin immediately.

Big 'Bergs Lurking

Mar Del Plata, Argentina (AP) — Ships in the South Atlantic have been alerted to be on the lookout for icebergs. Six huge bergs have been sighted near Mar Del Plata and one has been wallowing in the harbor.

Time Sales Test Case Goes To High Court

A test case of three penalty-reducing credit finance bills was appealed to the Nebraska Supreme Court Tuesday from Hall County District Court.

The appeal came after the District Court overruled a motion for a rehearing of the case in which district Judge Donald H. Weaver ruled LB-16, 17 and 19 constitutional. Weaver said it appeared the bills do not violate the Nebraska constitution or the federal constitution.

The attorney for the plaintiffs in the case, James A. and Joan B. Davis of Shelton said he would ask for an early argument of the case in the high court.

Judge Weaver's ruling on the bills came in a suit filed by the Davis couple against Kinman Chevrolet-Cadillac, Inc. of Grand Island, and the General Motors Acceptance Corporation.

The Davis couple had sought to cancel a contract on a three-ton truck, receive title to the truck, and recover money already paid under the $8,136.10 contract.

Atty. Gen. Clarence Meyer feels the three bills, passed by the special session of the Legislature, are unconstitutional. He contends the state constitution prohibits the Legislature from attempting to breathe new life into invalid contracts.
